General Finds "Kind of Inertia" Gripping Officials

Pershing Made Commander-in-Chief — "Chagrined" by Lack of Preparation—Says Preparation Should Have Been Pushed After Sinking of Lusitania — Rejection of Roosevelt as Overseas Leader Explained.

CHAPTER II.

BY GENERAL JOHN J. PERSHING.

(Copyright, 1931, by The North American Newspaper Alliance—World Rights Reserved. Including the Scandinavian. Reproduction in Whole or in Part Prohibited.)

I arrived in Washington May 9, and the next morning called at the office of the chief of staff, Major General Hugh L. Scott. He spoke of my assignment, which, as had been my impression from his message of May 2, was to command a division, and told me that it had been made upon his recommendation.

He referred me to the other general officers who were then senior to me, whose names I mentioned in the preceding chapter, and gave reasons why each one had been passed over. I greatly appreciated the opinion and action of the chief of staff, whom I had always held in high esteem.

General Scott outlined the general plans in so far as anything definite had been determined. Beginning with February 3, the war college division of the general staff presented a number of recommendations for action in the event of war with the central powers. One was for the enactment of a draft law and others referred to the size of the army to be organized and the necessity for the procurement of equipment and supplies.

March 15, acting under instructions of the chief of staff, the war college division submitted a more detailed scheme for raising an army of 500,000 men.

But these were all eleventh-hour suggestions and no definite action was taken on any of them until May 18 when congress passed the law authorizing the increase of military establishment through the application of the draft.

I was really more chagrined than astonished to realize that so little had been done when there were so many things that might have been done long before. It had been apparent to everybody for months that we were likely to be forced by the war and a state of war had actually existed for several weeks, yet scarcely a start had been made to prepare for it. The war department seemed to be suffering from a kind of inertia for which it was probably not altogether responsible.

The general staff was established just after the Spanish-American war, when Mr. Elihu Root was secretary of war, and upon his recommendation. One of the purposes for which it was organized was to make studies of possible theaters of operations and to work out plans of action. Specifically, this duty fell to the general staff at Washington, which was charged with making plans for the organization, supply, mobilization and transportation of the necessary forces to meet all possible contingencies.

But until a few weeks before the declaration of war neither the general staff nor the war college had received any hint or direction to be ready with recommendations, except as indicated above. The general staff and the war college, therefore, even after war was declared, than to consider the immediate question of organizing and sending abroad one combat division and 50,000 special troops requested by the Allies.

In view of the serious possibility of war that had confronted the nation since the sinking of the Lusitania, there was not the slightest reason why well-nigh complete plans should not have been prepared without waiting for direct instructions from the administration. To wait for such a lack of foresight on the part of the general staff was not calculated to inspire confidence in its ability to do its part in the emergency that confronted us.

But the truth is that the general staff at Washington had never been organized along modern lines, its membership had been recently reduced by congress, and but few of its officers had the experience necessary fully to understand its functions.

In this fact we no doubt find the basis of many of the difficulties that arose later in connection with the preparation of our army at home and its shipment and supply abroad.

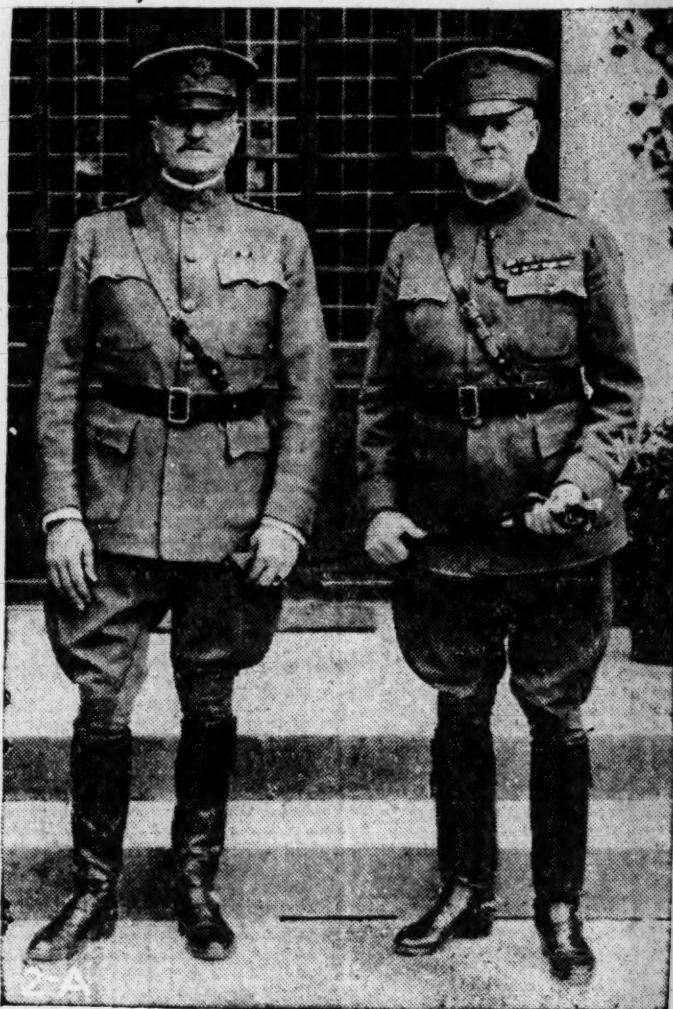

My next call was upon the secretary of war.

SWIFT BUYS LOCAL RED CROSS OPENS PACKING CONCERN $10,000,000 DRIVE

Purchase of Neuhooff Packing Company and Subsidiaries Completed.

Completion of the purchase of the Neuhooff Packing Company, of Nashville, and its subsidiaries, the White P. Ovisio Company, of Atlanta, and the Nashville Cold Storage Company, for $3,000,000 plus market price of inventories, by Swift & Company, was confirmed here today.

Negotiations for the purchase were reported under way some time ago. Possession of the Neuhooff Packing Company properties was taken by Swift & Company on January 5, it was reported.

The deal now gives the Chicago packers a complete packing plant in this city in addition to the distributing branches maintained here.

Lorenz Neuhooff, Sr., former head of the Nashville and Atlanta packing concern, retired from the business with a net worth of $10,000,000.

New Grady Board Meets Wednesday

Mayor James E. Key Monday called the first meeting of the board of trustees of Grady hospital for 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night at the hospital.

Among the major problems facing the board will be provision of a new physical plant and consideration of grand jury recommendations that the institution be placed under the direction of "competent administrative officials," thus relieving Steve R. Johnson and Asmon Lewis, superintendent and assistant superintendent, respectively.

Members of the board are Louis J. Elsas, W. Eugene Harrington, John E. Smith, Samuel C. Dobbs and Kendall Weisger.

No Reader Should Miss Memoirs Of Pershing, Says New York Times

(Editorial from New York Times.) The world has waited more than 12 years for General Pershing's story, and perhaps that is as well. The passions of 1917 and 1918 have faded, the war bitterness is past, and the years of our great military achievement can be viewed in calm retrospect. The narration of past controversies necessary to this review will doubtless arouse new ones or revive the old, for General Pershing mingles no words over shortcomings, either of our own or of our associates. This was to be expected, of course, for the line of men hurrying to the firing line of men almost untrained to meet the exigencies of battle; the aircraft that were constantly promised but never arrived, not even when the guns were firing their last shots on Armistice Day; the inconsiderable

U. S. BARS CONVICT LABOR ON ROADS USING RELIEF FUND

Emergency Fund Intended as Unemployment Relief, Washington Tells Governor.

Replying to an inquiry by Governor Harbord, officials of the United States bureau of public roads were revealed Monday in Washington to have decided that no part of the emergency highway construction fund recently passed by congress will be available for federal aid highway construction where convict labor is used.

Georgia's share of the $80,000,000 emergency fund has been announced as $2,077,936, but the amount will be used in obtaining a corresponding sum by matching the unexpended balance held to the credit of the state out of previous federal aid highway appropriations, making a total of $4,155,872 which will be immediately available for operations of the state highway department.

Bills requiring that convicts be used on state roads have been introduced in the house by Representative Byrns, of Spalding county, and in the upper branch by Senator King, of the eleventh. The senate bill will be heard by the senate penitentiary committee at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Captain J. W. Barnett, chairman of the state highway board, Monday was silent on the attitude of his department to the convict bill. He is believed, however, to share the attitude of a number of legislators who think that the use of the convicts, in view of the expense required to set up and maintain camps, would prove more expensive than contract labor.

JOHN J. RASKOB.

CHAIRMAN RASKOB DENIES NOMINEE IS 'IN THE BAG'

Declares No 'Clique' Exists in Party; Reasserts Democratic Faith and Denies He Pays All Bills

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(UP)—Emphatic denial that he ever was a republican or that he has "bought and paid for" the democratic party was made tonight by Chairman John J. Raskob of the democratic national committee.

He denied also that any clique is being formed to control the democratic presidential nominating convention of 1932, and described himself as a true liberal in every sense of the word. The party, he said, is not controlled by any man or small group of men.

Raskob, passing through the capital today on his way to Florida, issued publicly a letter to Frank R. Kent, of The Baltimore Sun, a democratic newspaper, replying to an article published under Kent's signature last week.

"When you liken the democratic party to a common harlot that can be bought and sold, used and abused at will," Raskob's letter to Kent said, "you tramp on the toes of millions of democrats who are proud of their heritage, glory in the traditions of their party and resent their insults."

Raskob said that it was not true as Kent said that he took over all democratic liabilities, was the only standing committee note, and has assumed none of the liabilities or debts of the committee. He said he has never interfered with Executive Chairman Joseph Shoup.

Friends Reduced Debts.

"The million dollar reduction in the party debt was made not by me but by close friends and associates of Governor Smith who felt great responsibility for a large part of our deficit."

Emory 'Frat' House Destroyed by Blaze

Fire at the Phi Delta Theta fraternity house at Emory University Monday night wrecked the two-story structure that has stood adjacent to the campus since 1923.

All members of the fraternity were away at the time of the fire, the only occupant of the building being the negro janitor, who was asleep in the basement. Awakened by smoke, he spread the alarm but when two fire companies from Atlanta arrived on the scene it had already been reduced to ashes. No clothing, furniture or records were saved.

The house was valued at approximately $15,000.

BOROUGH AUTO TAX PLAN WITHDRAWN, RATE HIKE BARRED

Water Increase Would Require Amendment of Charter; Mayor Key and Officials Confer Today.

Withdrawal of the proposal to levy a tax of $3 each on motor vehicles operated in Atlanta and legal barriers to a proposal to hike water rates 50 per cent as a temporary relief measure to raise more than $1,000,000 to meet borough expenditures, Monday night made early solution of the fiscal problem seem more remote.

Alderman James E. Bowden, of the fifth ward, author of the measure to tax automobiles, declared that he would withdraw the suggestion. He intimated he would offer others, but said he was not yet prepared to say just what his plans are.

Proponents of the water rate increase were met with a charter amendment preventing increases. The Georgia legislature would have to act to abrogate that amendment, and as this cannot be done before the regular session of the general assembly this summer that avenue was closed at least for six months.

Department heads will meet with Mayor James E. Key Monday morning in an effort to evolve some plan whereby the necessity of forcing borough employees to "donate" a month's salary, the total estimated at $500,000, might be obviated. They were called into conference by the mayor after the finance committee had reached an impasse in its efforts to solve the fiscal problems facing the borough. The committee adjourned until 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

Water receipts last year were $1,000,000.

Judge C. C. Pittman Orders Probe Of Negro Lynching in Cartersville

CARTERSVILLE, Ga., Jan. 12.—Pittman charged the grand jurors as follows: "A government by law, courts, witnesses, jurors and officers is a government by the people, ordained and guaranteed by the supreme law of the land, the federal constitution, and it is the government for which our fathers and soldiers have freely died. You and I have sworn before man and God, have registered our oaths in heaven that we will carry on such a government. A government by a mob is no American soldier in all the long history of this republic has ever died, or ever will die, in defense of a government by mob."

In closing his remarks Judge Pittman charged the grand jurors on the laws of Georgia pertaining to mob violence, and concluded with this significant utterance: "You and I did not make these laws, but we are sworn to uphold and enforce them."

Power Company President Says Measure Would Not Be Fair to Public Utilities.

ATHENS ATTORNEY SPEAKS FOR BILL

Alston and Arnold, for Gas Concerns, Assert Measure Grew Out of Spite and Prejudice.

BY R. E. POWELL.

Plans of Georgia's legislators to raise money to pay off a $6,200,000 deficit, either in whole or in part, by boosting taxes, drew the fire of public service corporations Monday when representatives of three of the large concerns which would be affected registered vigorous opposition to the Bennett bill to require tax returns to conform with valuation figures set up for rate fixing.

Hearing on the Bennett bill before the house ways and means committee Monday afternoon marked the first formal consideration of any of the revenue raising measures which have been introduced. The Kennedy bill to place a consumption tax on public utilities was, because of the length of time consumed in the hearing on the Bennett bill, postponed until 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Preston S. Arkwright, president of the Georgia Power Company, told the committee, after Lamar Rucker, city attorney of Athens, had made the single speech urging the Bennett bill, that his company was willing to return taxes at 100 per cent of property value, provided all other property in the state was returned at like valuation.

Alston Voices Opposition.

Robert C. Alston, appearing for the Southern Cities Public Utilities Corporation and who told the committee he also represented the Atlantic Coast Line railroad, said the bill started out to impose a tax on the assessing the property of utilities which no individual would think of imposing on himself.

For the Southern Natural Gas Corporation, of Birmingham, Reuben H. Arnold opposed the bill and declared that the bill had been born in spite and prejudice growing out of the recent revision of gas rates in Athens when, after hearings, the Georgia Public Service Commission permitted the operating company, which buys gas from the Southern Natural Gas Corporation, to add to its rate schedule a flat service charge.

All attorneys opposing the Bennett bill to equalize tax returns with valuations for rate fixing are to appear again this afternoon before the same committee and register protests against the bill.

Pershing Claims General Staff Lacked Foresight

army which had yet to be constituted, equipped, trained and sent abroad. Still, there was no doubt in my mind then or at any other time of my ability to do the job, provided the government would furnish men, equipment and supplies.

This new decision materially broadened the scope of my duties, and it became necessary at once to discuss with the war department the outlines of the organization of our forces. Naturally the consideration of personnel and the assembly of a field general staff was of first importance, and the foundation of the supply system as an integral part of the organization was to be next in order.

The efficiency of the staff and supply departments would depend largely upon the ability and experience of their chiefs, so that the selection of capable officers for these positions was of the greatest moment. This was a difficult task because there was only a limited number of available officers who had received even theoretical training in the duties of the staff of war.

Obviously it was advisable to choose my chief of staff as soon as practicable. After studying the records of several officers of my acquaintance, and of others who were recommended for the position, I chose Major James G. Harbord. His efficiency in every grade from the day of his enlistment as a private in the army in January, 1899, was not only of record but was well known to those with whom he had served. The first time I had ever heard of him was shortly before he was promoted to the grade of first lieutenant in the 10th cavalry. An officer who had known him as a sergeant said that he was a most promising youngster and that the regiment would be fortunate to get him.

High Tribute to Harbord.

Apart from sheer ability, a chief of staff, to be highly efficient, should have tact, and he must have the confidence of his commander. He would be of small value without the courage to give his own views on any question that might arise, and he must have the loyalty to abide by the decision of his chief.

Throughout the war Harbord never hesitated a moment to express his opinion with the utmost frankness, no matter how radically it might differ from my own, nor did he ever fail to carry out instructions faithfully even when they were not in accord with his views. Entirely unselfish, he labored incessantly for what he believed to be the best interests of our army. His ability, his resourcefulness, his faculty for organization, and, above all, his loyalty, were outstanding qualities, and these together with a compelling personality made him invaluable to the nation in this important position.

After consultation with the permanent heads of staff and supply departments, and with no little insistence on my part in more than one instance, the corresponding representatives to accompany me were designated, and they in turn chose their assistants. Although the list did not include all I would have selected, as some were not available, yet all rose to important places in the final organization, except one or two who failed in life.

The personal staff consisted of the following:

Captain Nelson E. Margetta, F. A., aide-de-camp, afterward colonel, artillery.

First Lieutenant Martin C. Shallenberger, infantry, aide-de-camp, afterward colonel, general staff.

The original members of the general staff, in addition to Major Harbord, cavalry, chief of staff, were:

Major John M. Palmer, general staff corps, afterward colonel, infantry.

Major Dennis E. Nolan, general staff corps, later brigadier general and chief of intelligence.

Major Fox Conner, assistant inspector general, later brigadier general and chief of operations. (Attached.)

Captain Arthur L. Conger, infantry, later colonel, general staff, and in command of an infantry regiment. (Attached.)

Captain Hugh A. Drum, infantry, later brigadier general and chief of staff, first army. (Attached.)

The administrative and supply staff was made up as follows:

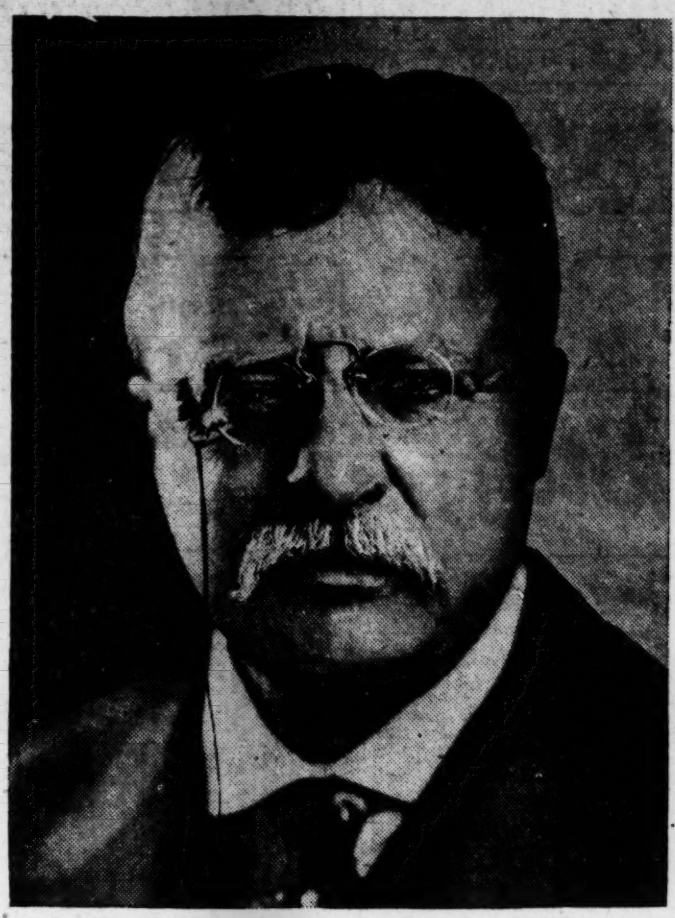

Colonel Benjamin Alford, adjutant general, later brigadier general and adjutant general, A. E. F., invalided home later.

Colonel Andre W. Brewster, inspector general, later major general and inspector general, A. E. F.

Colonel Daniel E. McCarthy, quartermaster corps, invalided home later.

Lieutenant Colonel Walter A. Beth-

Pershing Unable To Use 'Teddy'

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt. General Pershing regretfully disappointed the former President's appeal to be permitted to raise a volunteer division for overseas service.

my two sons, Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., aged 27, and Archibald B. Roosevelt, aged 23, both of whom were with you, to go over with the first troops. The former is a major, and the latter a captain in the Officers' Reserve corps. They are at Plattsburg for their third summer.

My own belief is that competent men of their standing and rank can gain very little from a third summer at Plattsburg, and that they should be utilized as officers, even if only as second lieutenants. But they are keenly desirous to see service; and if they serve under you at the front, and are not killed, they will be far better able to instruct the draft army next fall, or next winter, or whenever they are sent home, than they will be after spending the summer at Plattsburg.

The president has announced that only regular officers are to go with you; and if this is to be the invariable rule, then I apply on behalf of my two sons that they may serve under you as enlisted men, to go to the front with the first troops sent over.

Trusting to hear that this request has been granted, I am, with great respect,

Very sincerely yours,
THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

P. S.—If I were physically fit, instead of old and heavy and stiff, I should myself ask to go under you in any capacity down to and including a seaman; but at my age, and condition, I suppose that I could not do work you would consider worth while in the fight-

How Pershing Made French Permit War Correspondents To Accompany Our Troops

BY JUNIUS B. WOOD.
(Copyright, 1931, for The Constitution by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

BERLIN, Jan. 12.—When the first division of the A. E. F. was ready to enter the front line to complete its training the correspondents at Neu-chateau were Robert Small, Lincoln Eyre, Ray Carroll, Edwin L. James, George Patullo, Cal. Lyons, Heywood Brown and Floyd Gibbons. It was a French sector and the French corps commander expected them patiently to sit there. He was surprised that anything else should be suggested.

He said he would have a report sent back to them. The world knows how near any official communique can come to telling nothing. Perhaps the following week the correspondents might be escorted forward.

"The accredited correspondents have a right to be with a division when it goes in," General Pershing insisted.

Such a situation was unprecedented in any well-regulated war.

"Lala, les Americains, quelle blague," the corps commander sputtered. The French liaison officer at the American headquarters at Chateau, a count in society and a colonel in uniform, explained less volubly and also less hopefully. It was zero hour for him and he knew General Pershing was a tough objective.

"When the first division goes in the American correspondents will accompany it," General Pershing replied without many changes of wording but considerable in meaning. The division would not go until the issue was settled.

Army telephone wires buzzed across France between the American and the French general headquarters. The French general headquarters was amazed at such a naive suggestion.

The American general headquarters explained that this was an American division—which the French admitted—and that consequently the American command should decide as to its equipment, including who, when and how—which required more thought.

Even an army diplomat could sense the important issue of political precedent. Only Marshal Foch could decide the momentous issue, and he took several hours and probably consulted Paris, for the answer came a scant half hour before the time set for the division to move.

"Of course, mon general, vous avez raison," that general-militarist agreed over the telephone, and the correspondents moved forward. So also did the Salvation Army with its doughnuts and the Y. M. C. A. with its "I. O. U.'s."

None who was there will ever forget that night of rain and mud; a shattered French village, the steady tramp of slushing feet, steaming horses and guns slipping and slithering out of the darkness; rolling mess kitchens with hot coffee behind a broken wall; soldiers stumbling down a dark stairway into a basement dim with a single candle for the last glass of brandy; stragglers looking for their companies; buddies whispering hoarse farewells—and thousands in the United States still may remember these first vivid stories of an outfit going into the trenches.

The censor let them go a few days later, after prisoners had been captured and the enemy knew we were there. No doubt they knew it that night, but in those verdant days, military intelligence mystics imagined that the enemy stayed up all night in New York in order to get the first editions of the morning newspapers to find out who was fighting in France.

NONE SHOULD MISS PERSHING'S STORY

In his successive stages of discouragement, determination and ultimate triumph, and out of that diary has been made this story.

From the story, as a whole, there will be seen to emerge certain conclusions. No one who reads this first-hand revelation of what happened in France during the two years of American participation in the war can afterward doubt America's precise share in the ultimate victory. It was a painful road that the hastily built American army traveled; but its progress was steady and sure. An iron will dominated it, and when at last the dreary days of preparation were over and the first battalions went into action at Chateau-Thierry, the end of the conflict became dimly visible.

It is a graphic as well as an authoritative chronicle of American achievement in a world at war. There is the thrill of battle in it. The pulse quickens as one reads, and no American interested in the history of his country can afford not to read it, for this is veritably an American document.

Years of patient labor have been spent in its writing and revision. Carefully, as befits such a story, the facts have been winnowed from the huge mass of material available. Calmly and dispassionately they are set down, long after the campaign, as perhaps only a soldier with some literary gift could record its progress.

HIGHWAY CONTRACTS AWAIT U. S. APPROVAL

Awarding of Contracts Held Up for Federal Okay on Projects.

Plans for letting of state highway contracts early in February are held up pending word from the federal road bureau as to projects approved for immediate construction, Captain J. W. Barnett, state highway board chairman, said Monday.

The projects planned for the February letting are scattered widely over the state, in an effort to furnish unemployment relief as much as possible to all sections, Captain Barnett said.

Among important road projects that may be included in the next contract letting is the Macon-Columbus highway, an important artery in the east and west system. Thirty miles of this road have been paved, and practically all of the remaining 60 miles have been graded and are ready for paving.

CHICAGO'S HUNGRY HOLD MASS MEET

CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—(UP)—A "hunger parade" of 5,000 unemployed workmen trailed over Chicago's West Side today to end in a mass meeting on the edge of the teeming loop.

A delegation then marched on the city hall to see Mayor William H. Thompson, but the mayor was not there.

"Don't starve—fight," said some of the banners. Others said, "Give our children milk and bread," "Strike against wage cuts" and "to hell with bread lines—we want relief."

Policemen studied the line of march while detectives mingled with the demonstrators. There was no disorder.

Department heads of the borough government Monday were busy attempting to evolve means of saving money prior to the meeting at 10 o'clock this morning when they will gather to discuss fiscal problems of the borough government with Mayor James L. Key in the effort to prevent an 8 per cent temporary slash in salaries.

Council's sewer committee will hold its regular semi-monthly session at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the city hall.

Cross Sections of Life In Gate City of South

Dr. Ellis A. Fuller, pastor of the First Baptist church, left the city Monday for Jackson, Miss., where he is to deliver three addresses before the Southwide Baptist Sunday School Conference being held there this week under the direction of the Southern Baptist Sunday School Board.

Burglars of the skylight, brick-tossing and tunneling variety were active in Atlanta Sunday night. One of the former entered a grocery at 241 Fort street, the second type raided another store at 328 Whitehall street, and the tunneler bored through a brick wall of a store operated by Fred Ayash, 208 Decatur street. Loot was small in all instances.

E. C. Hudson, station lieutenant at police headquarters for many years, friend of all newspaper reporters, Monday left his post to seek excitement as an active officer on patrol duty. He is to be succeeded at the station house by Lieutenant S. J. Roberts.

Motor bus and truck operators of the state will assemble for the first meeting of the Georgia Motor Carriers' Association since its recent organization, at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night in the Ansley hotel.

Sheriff James I. Lowry, who has been slightly ill at his home on Pace's Ferry road for more than a week, was reported improved Monday. He is suffering from an attack of influenza. During Captain Lowry's absence, his chief deputy, Claude E. Register, is acting sheriff.

C. Dempsey Darr, alleged accomplice in a plot to blackmail Dr. C. Iversen Case, Monday went on trial before Judge E. D. Thomas in Fulton superior court. After selection of a jury a recess was taken until 9 o'clock this morning. Darr is the third person to face trial in the alleged plot on Dr. Case, Charlie Hawkins and Nell Hardin already having been convicted and sentenced to the chain gang.

Deputy Sheriff Jim White, who is at the Georgia Baptist hospital, was reported in extremely grave condition Monday. Mr. White has undergone three major operations in the last month and though near death several times always has rallied and revived the hopes of his family and friends. Attending physicians said Monday night they held little hope for his recovery.

Postmaster E. K. Large Monday received a letter from a Jacksonville widow asking him to find her a husband in Atlanta. The widow described herself as being 53 years old and possessing the usual attributes of a woman of that age. Mr. Large said he was forced to put the letter aside by the "press of other business." He added that though he didn't have time to seek a husband for the woman he would turn his information over to anyone who desired it.

Rabbi David Marx is the speaker at the regular Civilian luncheon today on the fourth floor of the Atlanta Athletic Club. Music will be rendered by Miss Jacquelin Moore, harpist.

The Rev. Ernest Risley will deliver his sixteenth lecture in a series on church liturgies this morning at St. Luke's Episcopal church. The public is invited.

J. B. Knight, of Columbus, was elected president of the southern chapter of the Institute of Scrap Iron and Steel at a meeting held January 8 at Birmingham. Other officers are S. C. Weber, Chattanooga, vice president; Thomas Knight, Birmingham, secretary-treasurer; W. M. Smith, Birmingham, secretary.

Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of schools, was back at his desk Monday after a tour of the west in the interest of the National Education Association, of which he is president.

With 233 prisoners incarcerated in the borough stockade, the largest number in history was registered, and Clarke Donaldson, chief of construction, declared that facilities are taxed to the limit.

PROMINENT REALTORS VISITORS HERE TODAY

National Association Presi- dent Heads Party En Route to Convention.

Leonard P. Reame, of Detroit, president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, accompanied by more than 100 prominent mid-western realtors aboard the "President's Special" train, will arrive to spend the day in Atlanta at 8:55 o'clock this morning.

The realtors are en route to attend the annual mid-winter convention of the national real estate association at St. Petersburg, Fla. They will be met at the Union station by members of the local board, headed by an entertainment committee consisting of Ward Wright, John O. Chiles, Dana Bolser and Henry Robinson.

The party will remain in Atlanta until about 4 o'clock this afternoon. During the morning they will be taken on a sight-seeing tour of the city and vicinity, including leading residential areas and Stone mountain.

A feature of the local program will be the luncheon given to the visitors by the Atlanta Real Estate Board at East Lake Court Club, starting at 1 o'clock. Here, R. W. Evans, president of the local board, and John J. Thompson, president of the Georgia Real Estate Association, will extend an official welcome to the nationally prominent real estate men.

A number of Atlantans are expected to join the party on the remainder of its trip to the convention.

EXAMINER OPPOSES DIXIE RATE HIKE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Upward revision of freight rates on iron and steel articles from southern producing points to northern and eastern destinations would be denied under a report filed today with the interstate commerce commission by Examiner Cheseldine.

Carriers serving the iron and steel producing sections in Alabama, Georgia, Tennessee and Mississippi proposed to cancel rates in effect on iron and steel products and apply new class rates to destinations in eastern trunk line territory, New England and Buffalo-Pittsburgh territories.

BIRMINGHAM WIDOW CHARGED WITH DEATH

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 12.—(AP)—Mrs. Janie Jolly, young widow, was charged with first degree manslaughter today in connection with the death more than two years ago of Jake A. Ramsey, of Cedar Bluff, Ala., from injuries received when he was struck by an automobile at a street intersection here.

FORMER AP WRITER KILLED BY TRAIN

REDDING, Cal., Jan. 12.—W. R. Downing, former correspondent of the Associated Press at Havana, Cuba, and his wife were killed and their 21-year-old son, Donald, was fatally injured today in a grade crossing accident near here. The Downings resided in Redding.

HEARINGS REOPENED ON SOLDIERS' HOME

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Hearings before the board of hospitalization of southern delegations asking location in their states of the $2,000,000 soldiers' home to be built in the south will be resumed this week.

They were started last week with representatives of Arkansas, Georgia and North and South Carolina appearing.

The selection of the site is expected by Veterans' Administrator Hines to take at least two months.

FORMER BANK CHIEF SURRENDERS TO POLICE

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Frank H. Warder surrendered today to begin serving 5 to 10 years in Sing Sing prison for taking a $10,000 bribe to forego examination of the City Trust Company while he was state superintendent of banks. He is 60 years old.

Warder was convicted November 5, 1929, as an aftermath of the $5,000,000 failure of the City Trust Company.

MARYLAND DRY LEADER GETS TENNESSEE POST

BALTIMORE, Md., Jan. 12.—(AP)—The Rev. B. Franklin Aud, assistant superintendent of the Maryland Anti-Saloon League, has been appointed Tennessee superintendent of the league, and will take office February 1, it was announced today. His headquarters will be Nashville.

FOUR MEN HANGED FOR INDIAN MURDER

POONA, India, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Four men who were sentenced to death on conviction of murdering a policeman in the riots at Sholapur last May were hanged here today. The privy council recently rejected their appeal.

DRY REPEAL BILLS INTRODUCED IN OHIO

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Six bills proposing repeal of statutory prohibition in Ohio were introduced in the state senate today by Senators Joseph N. Ackerman, of Cleveland, and William H. Berner, of Huron county.

CHAIN STORES FIGHT TAX IN SUPREME COURT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Chain stores appealed to the supreme court today to test the right of states to impose a separate tax on each store of their chain within the state.

The case comes from North Carolina, where the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company, F. W. Woolworth Company and a number of other chain stores challenged the validity of a 1929 law which imposed a tax of $50 on each store operated in the state by chain companies.

CLEVELAND MAY ASK DEMOCRATIC MEETING

CLEVELAND, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Cleveland's city council will be asked next Monday to issue an official invitation to the democratic national committee to hold the party's 1932 convention in this city.

Cleveland's last national political convention was the republican in 1924 when Calvin Coolidge was nominated for the presidency and Charles G. Dawes was named for vice president.

ARKANSAS COLLEGE BUILDING BURNED

JONESBORO, Ark., Jan. 12.—(AP)—The three-story brick administration building of Arkansas State College was destroyed by a fire of undetermined origin early today at an estimated loss of $175,000.

President V. C. Kays, who made the estimate, said the structure and equipment were insured for $100,000.

Tennessee Probe Program Expected To Take Form Today

Horton Reported Ready To Sign Measure Calling for Investigation of State Affairs.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 12.—(AP)—With the general assembly holding routine sessions tonight, final action on a resolution calling for an investigation of state affairs was expected tomorrow, with house concurrence in senate amendments.

Then the joint resolution, which has passed both houses, will go to Governor Henry H. Horton, who told

All But Six of 325 Paroled Men Return

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 12.—(AP)—All but six of 325 state prisoners, paroled Christmas, are voluntarily returned to custody, the state convict department announced today. The six missing convicts are negroes, and are now classed as parole violators, for whom rewards of $50 have been posted.

The legislature in a special message that a "searching" investigation of his administration should be its first order of business. Pending formal receipt of the resolution, the governor has withheld comment, but in view of his message observers believe he will sign it immediately.

That done, the committee of 12 will be organized at once. Its first business will be the selection of auditors and attorneys, together with the employment of clerical help. Then, will start the inquiry into the financial situation brought about by the closing of three banks having on deposit nearly $5,000,000 of state of Tennessee funds.

Speaker Fitzhugh said that the investigating committee would be appointed by the respective speakers immediately after the resolution becomes effective, and that the committee would be made up of men who are "absolutely fair, impartial and reliable."

While neither he nor Walter M. Haynes, speaker of the house, would divulge those under consideration for the committee, reports were current that Austin Peay, of Clarksville, son of the late governor Austin Peay, and George Stockton, of Fentress county, would be among the seven public members, and Walter Faulkner, of Lebanon, among the five senate appointees.

CLEVER GANGSTER PICTURE AT RIALTO

"THOSE WHO DANCE," with Monte Blue and Lila Lee, short subjects. Also The Making of The Constitution.

Anyone who desires to see a modern newspaper plant in operation, showing all the details in the making of your favorite morning newspaper, should go to the Rialto theater this week. Pictures made in The Constitution building, showing the progress of the daily grind from the writing of the stories, through the composing room, the linotype department, the big pressroom and the bundling and mailing room, are to be seen on the Rialto screen this week through Friday.

The pictures are well made and clear and give a thorough demonstration of how modern newspapers are made.

The feature picture is "Those Who Dance," a somewhat different sort of gangster picture. Monte Blue and Lila Lee are the particular stars, but it is the story that is unfolded rather than the individual performances that makes it the absorbing entertainment it is. There have, of course, been many gangster pictures but this production by Warner Brothers has an air of verisimilitude and some new angles that add immeasurably to its thrills.

There is a cartoon comedy to round out a nice piece of entertainment to break the monotony of anyone's day or evening.

HEWELL TO FACE TRIAL AGAIN SOON

Patrolman Odus C. Hewell, under indictment for murder in connection with the slaying last August 4 of Jake Minsk, Decatur street butcher, shot and killed by the policeman when he sought to arrest him, will be placed on trial a second time late this month or early in February, Solicitor-General John A. Boykin said Monday.

Hewell faced a jury in Judge E. D. Thomas's division of the Fulton superior court last week but the jury was unable to agree on a verdict and a mistrial was declared by Judge Thomas.

"The Hewell case will be given the first open date on the calendar," Mr. Boykin said. "It likely will be the last week in January or the first week of next month."

EMERSON HONORED AT MADDOX DINNER

Robert F. Maddox, chairman of the executive committee of the First National bank, Monday night entertained a number of bankers and business leaders at a dinner in honor of Guy Emerson, president of the Reserve City Bankers Association. The dinner was at the Capital City Club.

Mr. Emerson is a vice president of the Bakers Trust Company of New York city.

Besides Mr. Maddox those who attended the dinner were E. R. Black, John K. Ottley, Sr., H. Lane Young, Murray Schain, Ryburn G. Clay, W. B. Crowley, H. B. Kennedy, James D. Robinson, Robert Strickland, R. Clyde Williams, Oscar Newton, J. S. Kennedy, Stewart McGinty and Haynes McFadden.

SECOND VISIT TO COURT COSTS BEGGAR 50 DAYS

Christine Logan, mendicant, of Tappan Springs, Fla., appeared for the second time Monday before Recorder John L. Cone, in the night division of police court.

Last Tuesday, moved by Logan's tears, Recorder Cone fined him $10 and suspended the sentence on condition that Logan would go, anywhere, away from Atlanta, and solicit alms no more. The next day, while Recorder Cone was walking to court, some one tugged him by the sleeve and pitifully requested "a dime to buy a sandwich." It was Logan. And that's why he faced a judge Monday whose belief in human nature has been utterly destroyed. And that's why he's serving a sentence of 30 days in the stockade, plus 20 days for the suspended fine, which he couldn't pay.

Jury Pays Fine.

WILMINGTON, Del., Jan. 12.—(AP)—A jury in federal court which last week recommended mercy when it found Samuel J. Johnson guilty of illegal sale of liquor, today demonstrated what it meant by mercy when the members made up among themselves $100 to pay the fine imposed.

Hotel Wants Vallee To Start Paying Rent

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Rudy Vallee's new landlords at the Bellaire hotel crowned a tunc to the orchestra leader today, to the effect that he pay some rent.

Receivers for the hotel, in supreme court, obtained an order directing Vallee to show cause January 16 as to why he should not become a paying guest. The receivers set forth that since they took possession December 1 their cashier's acquaintance with Vallee has been purely by hearsay.

The possibility exists, the receivers say, that the crooning orchestra maestro may have had some arrangement whereby the hotel regarded it as a privilege to have him as a guest. The receivers, however, are of a different mind.

Brothers Indicted For Lingle Murder

CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—(UP)—The grand jury indicted Leo V. Brothers, former St. Louis gunman, on a charge of first degree murder today in connection with the slaying of Alfred "Jake" Lingle, Chicago Tribune reporter, last June 9.

The indictment was returned late, but Judge Harry Fisher waited in his courtroom to issue a necessary capias ordering Brothers taken to the county jail.

FREDERICK KRENSON JOINS MORRIS BANK

Frederick Krenson, formerly of Savannah, has become associated with the Atlanta office of the Morris Plan Company of Georgia, it was announced Monday. Mr. Krenson was in the real estate business in Savannah and for the past six years has been a director and a member of the executive committee of the Morris Plan Company. Mrs. Krenson will join him here later with their children.

ILLINOIS MAN INVENTS NEW AUTO GAS SAVER

Walter Critchlow, 3797-A Street, Wheaton, Ill., patents a Damp Air Gas Saver, unlike anything else.

general tax burden. Mr. Clift says: "In many counties and communities railway taxes are the principal item of support for the public schools. In some others there are abandoned railway lines that cannot be taxed. In the last ten years 642 miles of railroad in the state of Georgia have gone to the scrap pile."

Mr. Clift states that in 1929 the taxes of the Central of Georgia were $1,530,394, while its entire net income for the year was only $1,758,044. During every one of the past eight years the Central of Georgia's tax payments have exceeded the amounts paid for the year in dividends on its stock.

"The railroads make no complaint at bearing a just share of taxation," says Mr. Clift. "They point out, however, that while they pay for their own roadways and pay taxes on the roadways used by competitive forms of transportation are provided by the taxpayers and are untaxed. Taxpayers should consider these facts before denying their patronage to the railroads. Choosing transportation is equivalent to voting on taxes."

Looking At Life by The Observer

In Good Company

When a carefully administered financial corporation such as any successful life insurance company must be, undertakes to underwrite your future with no other security than your good health and good faith, you are elected to membership in a select and rather exclusive group.

In all ages the privilege of election to this group has been esteemed by people of importance. Pacific Mutual's very first policyholder was Leland Stanford, empire builder and founder of Leland Stanford University. I have told you the story of that policy.

Another early applicant was Horace Greeley. Benjamin Harrison, twenty-third president of the United States and grandson of a president, was protected by Pacific Mutual. So, too, was Sarah Bernhardt, and thirty years ago the late Haley Fiske, who was to become president of Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, selected a Pacific Mutual policy as a preferred investment.

January 1, 1888, probably pursuant to a New Year's resolution, John Wanamaker, one of the great merchants of all time, took out a fifteen-payment $15,000 Pacific Mutual policy. He carried this policy to maturity and in a letter to the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company expressed himself as "much pleased with the result of the policy."

It is a privilege to be found worthy of the same protection that was accorded these great figures. And, fortunately, it is a privilege which a much greater number may enjoy today, for Pacific Mutual policies since the day of these famous people have become much more numerous as to type and more liberal and flexible in their provisions. And I believe that if I were so favored as to be eligible I would lose no time in emulating the example of these great ones and avail myself to the full of my advantages.

How to Lose Fat a Pound a Day on a Full Stomach

Do Just These Two Simple Things
—Fat Melts Away

NO tiring exercise, no starvation. Instead, a full stomach and never a hungry moment! Yet fat melts away. You can easily lose from four to seven pounds weekly, see the course lines of fat replaced by the refined lines of slenderness—and feel better than you ever felt before in your life.

WHAT YOU DO

There are just two simple things you do: Clear your system and keep it clear of waste matter, toxins and depleting poisons with ordinary JAD SALTS obtainable at any drug store. Start with two teaspoonsful in a full glass of water tomorrow morning—a sparkling and pleasant drink.

Then EAT YOUR FILL—as much as your appetite can stand—of meals consisting of the following foods:

At breakfast eat two oranges, or the juice of two oranges. Eat also two slices of toasted whole wheat or bran bread. Eat rolled oats (with milk, not cream.)

At luncheon eat a good size piece of lean meat, then see how much spinach, lettuce, sauerkraut, boiled cabbage, green peas, broccoli, or fresh turnips you can eat. EAT THE ALL YOU CAN COMFORTABLY HOLD OF these foods. For dessert eat any fresh fruit; cantaloupe, berries, apples, sliced oranges, pears—any except bananas. Substitute lean meats—beef, chicken, veal, white fish, trout, bass, etc.—for pork or any fat meats.

At night, have another FILL-UP. FULL meal as above. Cut down on butter and sweets—eat half of what you eat now. That's easy. For with your stomach full of other

VERDICT OF SUICIDE IN DEATH OF WOMAN

Final Rites Today at Winder for Miss Annie Little, Found Hanged.

A verdict of suicide was returned Monday morning by a coroner's jury investigating the death of Miss Annie Little, 49, who was found dead about dawn Sunday hanging from the limb of a tree in Carey Park. Funeral and interment services will take place today at Winder with the J. Austin Dillon Company in charge.

Miss Little's body was found by a brother, M. E. Little, who was walking near the home shortly after 6 o'clock. Physicians stated she had been dead only a short while. Surviving are two brothers, J. T. and D. A. Little, and a sister, Mrs. Henry Potts, of Chattanooga.

CONFESSED KILLER IS CAPTURED HERE

Officers from Paterson, N. J., are expected to arrive here this morning to take into custody Morris Berlinger, alias Georgia Clark, and carry him back north to face a murder charge in connection with the death of "Mushy" Friedman, alleged beer racketeer.

MORRIS BERLINGER.

After, on October 16, 1930, Berlinger was arrested at 421 North Boulevard Sunday night by City Detectives J. J. Chester and P. H. Jones. Berlinger, admittedly a beer-runner and gangster, stated Monday he would waive extradition. He admits he is the man wanted for murder, but maintains that he shot in self defense. He had been hiding away in Savannah and had come to Atlanta with his wife and children two weeks ago, he asserted.

He told a story of running beer for a "boss" and of four men attempting to "put him on the spot" and how these four men were all indicted for assault with intent to murder. One of these was Friedman, he said, and at a consultation between Friedman, his own "boss" and himself, Berlinger said he shot Friedman when the rival beer racketeer attempted to draw his pistol.

and met it," he wrote. "I am loaning money to the national committee which will be repaid."

"My faith and confidence in the fundamental liberal principles of the democratic party gave me a great sense of security in the party's virility and the repayment of necessary loans."

"Your article infers that I was a republican and states that I voted for Coolidge, Harding and Hughes and became a democrat solely because of the Smith candidacy. None of the above is true although it has been used by the republicans as political propaganda in every malicious way possible and in spite of my denials."

"The facts are that my grandfather, father, and whole family were democrats and I lived with them until 27 years of age when I married into a family that have been democrats always, having settled in Maryland in 1834 and lived there ever since. I disapproved of the party's attitude on silver in 1896 and in consequence, although generally voting the democratic ticket, have always been an independent in politics until I affiliated with the democratic party."

Never Affiliated With G. O. P.
"I have never affiliated with the republican party, never voted or took part in its primaries, did vote for a republican president and belong to the Union league, a social club in Philadelphia the charter of which provides that a member must believe in the republican form of government. It does not provide that a member must be a republican."

The letter went on that club officials knew he voted for President Wilson, and that a "substantial number" of club members voted for Smith in 1928, and an even larger number for Hephall for governor last November.

Defending the right of "any man" to change his convictions, Raskob said "gossip has it that Mr. Hoover was formerly a democrat."

"It was his right," Raskob said, "to change his opinion and his politics, but when your article infers that I was a republican and changed to the democratic party because of my religion and because Alfred E. Smith is a Roman Catholic, you are merely straining the truth in order to make a republican national committee that have been fomenting religious and class hatreds during the past two years and proscribing the republican party to gain ballots from a misinformed, abused and misguided public."

"The democratic party is not and will not be controlled by a few big or small group of men. Nominations for president and vice president will be made by the democratic national convention and not dictated by any clique. When this great party bows to the control of one man or small group of men as does the republican party it will cease to be democratic, will cease to exist and will not matter, a true liberal in every sense of the word, as its national chairman."

"Unselfish, patriotic service to one's country may easily be viewed by selfish, suspicious people as a 'prize paradox,' but thank God the country is overflowing with unselfish, patriotic citizens who are only waiting for the 1932 national elections to follow a leader carrying their banner."

$77,000, and if they were increased 50 per cent, more than $900,000 would be realized. It was pointed out that the water receipts have been hiked before to meet deficits, but that since that time there has been a charter amendment preventing such increases to relieve any deficits outside the water department itself.

Assistant City Attorney Jack Savage declared that the raise could not be made unless the borough charter is changed.

Additional property tax was imposed by Mr. Key in a short statement in which he declared that property cannot bear any additional levy at this time. He stated he believed the water raise would not work any hardship, and would relieve the situation which now faces the finance committee.

U. S. BARS CONVICT LABOR ON ROADS USING RELIEF FUND

The regulations, it was explained, were framed with a view of carrying out the intent of congress, in passing the emergency fund, that the appropriations should go for the benefit of unemployment conditions. Bureau public roads officials take the position that the purpose of the fund, so far as aiding unemployment, would be partially defeated at least if the state were permitted to use convict labor.

When Governor Hardman took matter up with Thomas H. MacDonald, chief of the bureau of public roads, the bureau chief replied that all contracts with county authorities involving convict labor were being denied, but that he would permit the state highway board to use a "reasonable" amount of such labor in its operations under regular as contrasted from emergency federal aid funds.

Law methods of supervision and accounting were given by Mr. MacDonald as the reason for the bureau's abandonment of its previous policy of accepting county convict labor contracts.

Following the bureau's reply to Governor Hardman, officials Monday were asked by J. W. Barnett, chairman of the state highway board, for an elaboration of Mr. MacDonald's statement regarding the use of a "reasonable" amount of convict labor and seeking general information as to the conditions that must be met. Captain Barnett wired Washington as follows:

"Please wire terms and conditions under which convicts may be employed on federal aid projects. Will convict organizations under highway board's direction be required to bid on work as is required by contractors?"

If the state had sufficient funds on hand to match the money as balance held to its credit in the treasury, the regulation against convict labor would apply to only the state's share of the $80,000,000 emergency fund. Washington dispatches said. But Georgia's share of the fund is being joined with the corresponding amount available from regular appropriations unexpended, all in a way to make the bureau apply the convict labor regulation to any project paid for out of the total, it was said.

S. A. L. RECEIVERS TOLD TO PAY CLAIMS

NORFOLK, Va., Jan. 12.—(AP)—Federal Judge D. Lawrence Groner today authorized the receivers for the Seaboard Air Line railway to pay out certain claims and obligations arising against the railway.

The order limits the amount to be paid to $755,000 "for overcharges in excess of lawful tariff rates, transit refunds required by tariffs, refunds of unused passenger fares, claims for temporary deposits of a semi-trust character made by consignees covering value of shipments on order-notify bills of lading to guarantee surrender of such bills of lading and customs duties refunded on surrender of such bills and damages to property received for transportation."

refused to Grant Leon Trotsky, exiled soviet leader, a visa. Trotsky was reported to be planning to lecture in Norway.

BILL SEEKS REDUCTION IN LIQUIDATION COSTS

L. E. Heath, Douglas Lawyer, Would Give Banks Right to Close Temporarily.

Correction of existing laws to permit less expensive liquidation of country banks has been urged on Governor Hardman by L. E. Heath, attorney of Douglas.

"At this particular time," Mr. Heath wrote the governor, "I consider the situation of the country towns banks a very perilous one. I have drawn a bill, which I am enclosing to you, authorizing banks, when their finances run below the minimum cash reserve, to close temporarily without surrendering the bank for liquidation to the banking department."

"My suggestion is that you look over this situation," Mr. Heath said in his letter, a copy of which was sent to A. B. Mobley, superintendent of banks, "and if you agree with the plan, that at the end of the present extraordinary session you issue a second call to reconvene the legislature for the purpose of considering this bill and enacting it into law."

Divisional headquarters of Anheuser-Busch Company have been opened to serve Atlanta and this territory, with Ben C. Williams, divisional manager, and W. G. Pryus, branch manager, at 927 West Peachtree street.

Mr. Williams has been in the yeast business for eleven years, formerly connected with other nationally known firms. A new $2,000,000 plant for the manufacture of Busch yeast is now being built in New York area, stated Mr. Williams. The home office and plants in St. Louis cover 70 city blocks, one of the largest such concerns in the world.

The Atlanta divisional headquarters is in line with the company's policy to open branch facilities in every state and completes the distribution plans for every state east of the Rockies.

Mercury Drop And Clear Sky Outlook Today

Freezing temperatures will come today with clearing skies. Meteorologist C. F. Von Herrmann forecast Monday.

The temperature will range between 32 and 39 degrees, as compared with Monday's minimum of 37 and maximum of 42.

The downward dive of the mercury will be gradual, with the minimum probably reached before noon, Mr. von Herrmann said.

FORD SHOW

Opens This Evening at 7 o'Clock

Daily Thereafter from 10 A. M. to 10 P. M. until January 17th

452 Peachtree St. ADMISSION FREE

ALL ATLANTA will want to see the complete display of Ford cars at this show. Thirteen handsome standard and deluxe body types are here—including the smart new Ford Victoria which is taking the country by storm. You will be particularly interested in the substantial furnishings and appointments in these cars, the richness of trim and upholstery, the roomy interiors and deeply cushioned seats. Among the thirteen styles is the car you have always hoped to own.

Business—big business as well as the individual truck operator—has special reasons for visiting the Ford Show. There are so many fine new Ford commercial cars and trucks on display, that no one who is really interested in modern transportation and minimum operating costs can afford to miss it.

To make sure there's not a dull moment in this show, special features have been provided.

There's a talking motion picture of a tour through the Ford plant—more interesting than many you pay good money to see at the theater. It takes you into immense steel mills where Ford-owned raw materials are converted into enduring metal, shows you marvelous precision machines found no other place in the world, convinces you that there are sound and sufficient reasons why so much quality and craftsmanship can be put in the Ford at the price.

Sawing a Ford in two—right down through the center—seems to be the easiest way to give every man and woman an "inside" picture of the Ford. You'll like this feature—you don't have to be a mechanic to understand the fine points of Ford construction.

Then, there are special displays of the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield which won't fly when broken—the Rustless Steel, which is used in so many exposed metal parts—the Houdaille hydraulic shock absorbers and their double-action—and other features equally important and interesting.

You will see a Ford motor rebuilt. You will be invited to take a demonstration ride. There will be fifty demonstrators in attendance. Acceptance does not obligate you in any manner. Finally, a brand-new Ford Tudor Sedan will be given away. Ask one of these Ford dealers for details about this—and see the show as soon as possible. Admission is free!

THE GEORGIA CRISIS.

The governmental impasse in Georgia was graphically and justly delineated by Representative Stokes, of Twiggs county, printed in The Constitution of Monday.

He uncovers the seat of the congestion which weakens and oppresses the state, which is the Procrustean bed of an outworn constitution—inelastic, restrictive and prohibitive of modern methods of state administration.

It is much to be hoped that Representative Stokes is right when he says that "we will have a constitutional convention" to revise and modernize the frame work and functions of the state government. Until that long-delayed and needed work is done, all talk of reforming and retrenching state administration must end in talk only. All devices to adjust revenues to expenses are foredoomed to fail, because the people will not consent to be deprived of the state services established upon their demands.

There is not a state institution of public service, of life and property protection, of education, of charitable and humanitarian obligation that the people will allow to be suspended or scrapped. They have grown into being and functions to equip a modern civilization and they must be supported in the future more adequately than they are or have been. The people can see no economy or relief in starving or strangling them.

It is unquestionably possible to administer the public services less wastefully and with fewer boards, commissions and improprietous local managers, but a new and liberalized constitutional warrant is necessary to effect those reforms, to centralize control and concentrate responsibility.

The people of the state need practically all their present government institutions. Instead of cutting down their support and efficiency they should be given greater appropriations and enlarged equipment for more perfect service. And under a constitution that will free the legislature to modernize and equalize our tax system, budget our fiscal obligations and discover and distribute our revenue resources, all that necessary work can be done without imposing an ounce of additional burden upon the supporting citizens of the commonwealth.

For a reformation and redemption of the state's affairs so immediately necessary the general assembly is called upon to show the wisdom and courage that more than once before has saved Georgia from stagnation and humiliation. No state in all America is better able to establish good, solvent and progressive government than is Georgia. It is not means she needs; it is men of brave, wise, unselfish patriotism.

Be glad that life is just "one thing after another." It would be frightful if it were "the same thing over and over again."

Too late Hoover has come to think that an "extra session" is a right thing to shun.

The Congressional Record reveals that though Senator Heflin lost his toga he didn't lose his funny bone.

New Jersey last year revoked the licenses of 2,069 drunken and reckless drivers.

less auto drivers. Many Atlantans are lucky that they do not live in New Jersey.

DEATH OF NATHAN STRAUS.

The death of Nathan Straus, coming to his mortal end like a fully ripened shock of corn, will be lamented by millions of good people in both hemispheres. Truly a great leader in Israel has fallen upon rest—a man distinguished for nobility of heart and famous philanthropy of mind and hand.

With his parents and brothers he spent his youth and obtained his business acumen here in Georgia. He claimed to have imbibed much of his ideals of humanness and helpfulness from the fine spirit of those Georgians who, in that past era, exhibited those unselfish qualities in circumstances and in a degree seldom paralleled in modern history.

Nathan Straus was a godly man. He felt a spiritual comradeship with the poor, the needy, the oppressed. He enjoyed wealth because of the good he could do with it. He was a great benefactor to the children of his populous city by his pure and free milk fund. He gave liberally without prejudice of race or creed to appealing good causes. He was an "Israelite without guile" and devoted to the welfare of the Jews, a people who have given great and profitable leaders to our American life.

The passing of such an exemplar of the attributes that make men more than human is an occasion of sorrow to millions and furnishes a lesson-career for all to ponder and emulate.

THE 'SHAM' REPORT.

President Hoover, the congress and the country at large are curiously awaiting the dumping upon the presidential desk of the Wickersham law enforcement report. For nineteen months those ten men and one woman, all known experts in law and social dynamics, have been fine-combing the nation to obtain valid material for a report on prohibition conditions among the peonology.

The report, however replete in particulars and raged in implications, is sure to provoke much lively discussion among the people who can digest it either philosophically or prejudicially. But it is not expected that it will recommend any catholicon for the chaos of liquor conditions throughout the nation.

More expected is it that the report, read between the lines, will be a paraphrase of the familiar quatrain:

"Mother, may I go out to swim?
Yes, my darling daughter;
Hang your clothes on a hickory limb.
But—don't go near the water!"

By consent of congress and, at great expense, the president appointed a commission to find out the trouble as far as prohibition enforcement is concerned.

Whether or not the commission is acting upon instructions, all indications point to the fact that while told to get the facts it has been admonished not to "go near the water," in the matter of putting its finger on the real trouble and making a definite recommendation as to the remedy.

The committee is evidently operating under the embarrassing limitation of the young girl who was told to go out to swim, but admonished by her mother "not to go near the water."

When the commission tells us that the law has not been enforced as it should have been it will give the people no news; and if it suggests that the law shall stand unaltered for another long period of trial it will insult the common sense of the country.

How much longer than 11 years does a great and resourceful government like that of the United States need to find out whether or not it can enforce its constitution and laws? On what other subject than that of the "fugitive slave" law, pursuant to the constitution, has this powerful government fallen down as it has in this matter of enforcing prohibition?

When the Wickersham screed is sent to the congress it will probably be pigeon-holed in the committee rooms, leaving to the future the finding of a better way to temperance and sobriety and law observance than that which will be recommended in a report already discounted as dodging the real issue.

Things are in the reverse. It is the house of congress that now cools off hot stuff coming from the senate. That's news for G. Washington.

What a thrilling news-reel that would have been showing old "Uncle John D." flitting with Gall-Curci!

Now the senate should think up something else to ask of President Hoover.

Forty legislatures are now sweating over the age-old problem of how to get blood out of a turnip.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

Gay Paree No More.

The far-famed reputation of Paris as a city of gaiety is called into question by M. Paul Reboux. He calls it a sad city that is bled by taxes squelched by puritanism, hamstrung by regulations, a Paris that no longer offers but a spark where formerly shone a flame. In a recent article he imagines himself in the place of a foreigner who has come to Paris to have a good time. The imaginary tourist is beset with difficulties. He is told that the "fine" Parisians are the most unkind people in existence. The foreigner need not become too vain, however, and imagine that he is getting special attention on account of nationality. When he is winning under the choice abuse of the taxman, waiter and concierge, let him reflect that the "same" measure is served up to Frenchmen, too. It is just a charming picturesque local custom.

And if you are a real cosmopolitan, it is local color that you want, isn't it? If not, why leave home? "Those Parisians," you may have heard, "have told you so much." M. Reboux finds dreary stretches of deserted main street. You will see, he says, that the Parisians are not above all, not a single pretty Parisian girl. A few old ladies with a painted smile are all there are on hand. The "same" little woman of Paris has disappeared and the boulevard is as sad as a widow. You will simply be impressed by the sadness and austerity of our streets, he goes on.

"In the country of Brantome, of Voltaire, of Beranger, of de Maistre, of Pierre Louys, you will have the impression of being at Quebec, at Bern, at Copenhagen, or in some gloomy sub-phantasy of the French provinces. It is really not the worth while making the trip." (Copyright, 1931, for The Constitution.)

HUMAN MATERIAL NEEDED FOR RESEARCH.

Nearly everyone who takes normal interest in the preservation of health knows something about the importance of vitamins in the diet, particularly the parents of young infants who feed them. Perhaps most well-reared babies today get a regular ration of some fresh fruit juice for the sake of the vitamin C which prevents scurvy—a nutritional disease which was formerly encountered only in the infants of wild to do people, but seldom seen today. Then, too, most babies that are properly fed receive a cod liver oil ration nowadays, for the vitamin D which prevents rickets, as well as the infant in the development of normal immunity against infection, especially infections of the upper respiratory tract. It is because of the large amount of vitamin A in cod liver oil that it is so valuable. Facts and Figures About Farming That Will Jar Some Thinking Caps.

The future of farming in the United States is the subject of a general discussion among economists, in the press and among the people themselves. Especially those intelligent farmers who are concerned for the stability and prosperity of our American agricultural industry.

All sensible men know that food production is the basis of our civilization and the essential function of our national economy. It is the basis of our national life, and the basis of our national independence. The laboratory chemical production of synthetic food is a fantasy and a dream.

OWN GOVERNMENT SEEN FOR PEOPLE OF INDIA

LONDON, Jan. 12.—(P)—India's future federal government will combine features of the British parliament and American congress if a plan unfolded today at the round table conference by Lord Chancellor Sankey is adopted by the MacDonald government.

The basic assumption of the plan is that responsibility for the future government of India will rest on the Indians themselves and the plan therefore outlines a general framework of virtually a dominion status.

The round table conference which has been in session for two months at St. James' palace is rushing to close with success expected to crown the work accomplished at London recently by the delegates at the round table conference.

King George and Queen Mary sailed for the delegates at Buckingham Palace on Monday morning. The journey of the conference was set for Monday, following Premier MacDonald's pronouncement of British policy which will be made either Friday or Monday morning.

The introduction of two more financial measures Monday covered all but the governor's call for the extra session, with the other measures previously placed before the house and senate.

These measures were a bill by Sloan, of Hall, and Powell, of Screven, creating a tax commission, and another by Alexander, of Chatham, providing for the payment of the cost of the extra session. Providing money for the publication of constitutional amendments is the only point in the bill not taken care of by proposed legislation.

The tax commission measure provides for the establishment of a commission to serve terms of six years each by gubernatorial appointment. The chairman to receive $7,500 annually and the other two members $6,500 each.

The bill would abolish the office of tax commissioner and the department of revenue and assume the duties of the offices of comptroller general and secretary of state.

Collections of unpaid taxes under the existing law are in the hands of the comptroller general and the handling of license tag taxes as now in operation under the secretary of state. Officials of these departments have indicated that additional workers will be put on as the situation warrants.

Heard the list was the Ford Motor Company, where more than 60,000 men returned today, bringing the total employment to 75,000. Ford plants through the country today had a total of 100,000 men at work. The majority of the Ford workers are on a three-day a week basis.

Employment at other factories in the Detroit area is also on a three-day a week basis. The Buick 15,300; Hudson 10,000; Cadillac 6,000; Chevrolet 32,100. Officials of Chevrolet have indicated that they would not work the normal force of 10,000 at work by the end of January.

Ford officials at Detroit said they were uncertain when their organization would start a five-day week schedule.

"Whether we shall go on a five-day basis for the majority of the men in the new future depends, entirely, on the officials said, 'on business conditions and the market for cars.'"

ROANOKE, Va., Jan. 12.—(P)—Seven hundred maintenance of way employees of the Norfolk & Western railway, laid off on December 18, returned to work today.

BRISTOL, Va., Jan. 12.—(P)—W. M. Ritter Lumber Company announced today a four-day week schedule had been ordered at its Dickenson county operations. The company employs approximately 1,000 men who have been working three days a week.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(P)—Recommendations for curbing bank runs and deporting undesirable aliens were received from treasury and labor department officials today by the committee investigating committee for presentation to the house January 17.

In a secret session, Secretary Donnell on record for more stringent alien-deportation laws. Comptroller of the Currency Pole asked for legislation making it a criminal offense to violate the law. The committee is a national bank or member of the federal reserve system.

Chairman Fish said he called Pole in connection with reports that runs and failures of certain banks were attributable to communist propaganda.

SENATE BILLS. The following bills and resolutions were introduced Monday in the senate and referred to committees.

No. 4.—By Lane, of the 13th. To provide for paying into the state treasury a general fund all revenues, except such as is allocated otherwise by the constitution of Georgia. Appropriations.

You Aren't Disloyal To Your Dog Because You Decline To Share His Fleas

By Robert Quillen

If you are not more fortunate than the majority of your fellows, there will come a time in your life when you must choose between disloyalty to a friend and disloyalty to your standards of right.

Some well-loved friend, with whom you have associated on terms of moral equality—whose companionship you have enjoyed without misunderstandings or misgivings—whose ideals and convictions have seemed as decent as your own—will stoop to some dishonor or immorality that you could not forgive in anyone else.

He will hide the truth from you, and you will be the last to believe him guilty, but in time his guilt will be established and your day of testing will be at hand.

What shall you do? If he had merely broken a law or surrendered to some temptation and now felt contrite and ashamed, your course would be clear. The very minimum of decency would require you to remain loyal. Your love for him would multiply his misdeeds.

Should you forsake him? Alas! he has already forsaken you. Your friendship was a spiritual contract based on the assumption that each of you would continue faithful to the ideals and standards that served as the foundation of your mutual interest.

He did the choosing. He was offered a choice between your respect and the profit to be gained from evil, and he chose the profit. He valued your love and comradeship less than he valued the advantages he could gain by shamming you.

How can he accuse you of disloyalty if you continue to stand where you always have stood? You have not changed. The change has been in him. You have not moved. It was he that descended to lower levels. Would he magnify the wrong he has done you by asking you to share his guilt by condoning it? Does he value you so little that he would drag you down to the lower level he has chosen?

Then you are well quit of choosing. Loyalty doesn't require lying in a gutter of the other fellow's choice.

DETROIT, Jan. 12.—(P)—Industrial pay rolls in the Detroit area were stepped up approximately $2,000,000 a week. Thousands of men were back at work on full or part time as automobile factories increased their production schedules.

The total number of men employed in five large factories stood at 436,000 today. These men are working on schedules varying from three to five days a week. The factories are those of the Ford Motor Company, the Cadillac Motor Company, the Hudson Motor Company, the Buick Motor Company and the Chevrolet Motor Company.

Officials of these factories have indicated that additional workers will be put on as the situation warrants.

Heard the list was the Ford Motor Company, where more than 60,000 men returned today, bringing the total employment to 75,000. Ford plants through the country today had a total of 100,000 men at work. The majority of the Ford workers are on a three-day a week basis.

In Hollywood

BY MOLLIE MERRICK

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Jan. 12.—(NANA)—Newspaper stories are just beginning, so far as the present crop of talkies are concerned.

Richard Barthelmess is making a newspaper tale. "Millie's most recent vehicle of Helen Twilvetree, which I saw previewed last night, has newspaper lads figuring prominently in the march, the story. Several studios have been milling over newspaper plots and casting an anxious eye, the while, on Walter Huston who made the wishy-wash affair with talkie characterizations of this type long ago, back in the infancy of talk.

Final, the most recent newspaper legitimate stage success, the fever for faithfully recounting the adventures of these modern musketeers will begin all over again.

Several years ago, the newspaper plot was out with editors. If and when they did attempt a story of the sort, it was a wishy-wash affair with very little semblance of the actual thing. Nowadays the idea is to present this line of work, which still has tremendous publicity and opportunities for advertising behind it, in perfection.

And one of the most persistent rumors credits Fox Corporation with a cessation of production scheduled during the next few months to make time and opportunity for complete reorganization.

The story current is to the effect that several of those bankers who know of pictures only the long dry sheet was took with him, and are not finding enough on the profit side to keep them interested. One must keep an audience interested in the emotion of the movies. But when it comes to the Wall Street crowd, interest lies all in the cold black-and-white which records the picture's box office record.

If the ambitious plans of Howard Hughes go through as he has scheduled them, there will be plenty of bankers for the United States group without worrying about losing such from competitors.

The current stories prophesy a complete change of high executive staff. This will be the second big change Fox has had in the last 12 months or so.

The latest rage hereabouts is the mania for travel pictures taken by people of interest. When Douglas Fairbanks hied him off to Indo-China recently he took with him a camera outfit with which he will make a travelogue.

Young Claudette Colbert, a voyaging and travel picture, Norman Foster, on a four months' tramp-steam trip, took a movie camera along and got some of the best gelatine traveling shots that have been brought back to this village in many a day. I am told.

The material includes a movie of a Japanese neutral picture taken at Bali. This ceremonial is, it seems one of the most impressive of the tribal pageants. And one that is expected to draw a large audience. The sound effects are the things these days. And many of the studio-made reels have sound dubbed into them.

But the most interesting picture released, I noticed that such parts as did not call for sound were as much appreciated as those that were made with sound recordings.

And when it comes to news announcements, or voices interpolated to heighten the suspense—as the voice in the "Adrian Speaks" picture—the tendency of the audience is to frankly give it the raspberry.

You've got to use your head in putting sound into a traveling these days; and in it you have to come into a picture. And if you miss out on either of these, the audience has no reluctance in giving a loud h-h-h.

FOOD LOAN VOTE BELIEVED NEAR

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(AP)—The way was opened today for a showdown in the house tomorrow on the senate's $15,000,000 food provision for drought sufferers.

The republican leaders will move that the house disagree to the senate proposal and send it to conference with the view to its elimination.

Democrats plan to propose that the conferees be instructed to accept it. Administration leaders said, however, they expected their forces successfully to resist such a move.

Although President Hoover's approval of a call to the country for $10,000,000 to be contributed to the Red Cross has somewhat curbed the enthusiasm of some proponents of a direct food appropriation, Minority Leader Garner declared that at least 150 members would vote for the senate proposal.

The house rules committee broke a six-day deadlock by granting legislative right-of-way to the question of sending the bill to conference.

O'Neal, Legion Head, Visits Atlanta Today

Ralph O'Neal, of Topeka, Kansas, national commander of the American Legion, will arrive in Atlanta at 7 o'clock this morning from Montgomery, Ala., en route to his home in Birmingham, where on Sunday he attended a statewide meeting of post commanders and adjutants of Alabama.

He is to stop here for several hours and will be at the Piedmont hotel until noon, when he is scheduled to leave on the Crescent Limited. It was stated Monday night by officials of Atlanta Post No. 1 that a committee of veterans headed by Gordon Singleton, commander of the local post, will visit O'Neal at his hotel during the morning.

W. A. Sirmon, adjutant of the local post, is a member of the commander's party and will arrive here this morning with him. Mr. Sirmon attended the Birmingham meeting as the only Georgia adjutant invited to speak.

Swiftest, Easiest Way to End Bilious Spell

When you neglect those first symptoms of constipation—bad breath, coated tongue, listlessness, the whole system soon suffers. Appetite lags. Digestion slows up. You become headachy, dizzy, bilious. It's easy to correct sluggish bowel action! Take a candy Cascaret tonight. See how quickly—and pleasantly—the bowels are activated. All the souring waste is gently propelled from the system. Regular and complete bowel action is restored.

Cascarets are made from pure cascarilla, a substance which doctors agree actually strengthens bowel muscles. All drug stores have Cascarets. 10c.—(adv.)

SENATE AT LOSS IN POWER FIGHT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Blocked by President Hoover, the senate drive for removal of three members of the new power commission marked time today as the senate opposition considered new moves.

Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, who led the movement for reconsideration of confirmation of the commissioners, said tonight he was contemplating asking the senate either to reject the nominations formally or to refer them back to committee.

The commissioners—Chairman George Otis Smith, Marcel Garsaud, and Claude L. Draper—meanwhile went on with their duties supported by the ruling of President Hoover that they were legally in office.

Administration leaders were confident that Mr. Hoover was backed by the people and they believed the contest was ended by the president's refusal to resubmit the nominations.

MARSHALL STONE'S WIDOW SUCCEEDS

IUKA, Miss., Jan. 12.—(AP)—Mrs. Mary Stone, widow of the late John Marshall Stone, governor of Mississippi from 1876 to 1892, died at her home here today. Mrs. Stone was 90 years old.

ANGUS McLEAN. MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 12.—(AP)—Angus McLean, of Bathurst, N. B., president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, died here today.

DR. LOUIS P. BERNE. NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Dr. Louis P. Berne, 47, plastic surgeon, friend of many screen stars, died suddenly of heart trouble while preparing to perform an operation at a hospital today.

He is survived by a widow and 12-year-old son.

Dr. Berne built his fame in part on his ability to transform his patients' noses. Many a now handsome actor or actress owes that politeness in part to the surgeon's skill. He is reputed to have operated upon Jack Dempsey, Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy, Fanny Brice and others. He was transforming a patient's nose when he collapsed.

CLEMENT SCOTT. OLYMPIA, Wash., Jan. 12.—(AP)—Representative Clement Scott, Vancouver, collapsed in his chair and died after making a speech in the house a few minutes after the state legislature opened here today.

DR. EDGAR THOMPSON. NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Dr. Edgar Thompson, nationally known eye specialist, died today after a week's illness. He was 59, whom his writings on eye diseases are widely known among medical men.

EDWIN F. MEYER. CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Edwin F. Meyer, 65, retired capitalist and former member of the law firm of Meyer, Meyer, Austrian & Pratt, died today.

'ALFALFA BILL' TAKES OATH AS GOVERNOR

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 12.—(AP)—William Henry (Alfalfa Bill) Murray, Tishomingo, became Oklahoma's first governor today.

The oath of office was administered by the governor's 91-year-old father, Utah Dow Thomas Murray.

Occupying a prominent place on the program was a prayer for Oklahoma's new white father offered by Big Chief White Horse, member of a group of Comanche and Kiowa Indians at the ceremonies. The prayer had a special significance for Oklahoma's first lady is a member of the Chickasaw tribe and Murray himself long has been closely associated with affairs of the red man.

Newest of an unbroken line of democratic governors, two of whom were removed from office, Murray, who left a Texas cotton patch at the age of 12, is the idol of the common people. To them he made his appeal last fall, shortly after returning from an unsuccessful colonization attempt in Bolivia, and to him they gave the greatest vote ever received by a chief executive.

WOODRIDGE TAKES OATH AS GOVERNOR OF KANSAS

TOPEKA, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Harry H. Woodridge, 41-year-old bachelor, World War veteran and democrat, became the twenty-fifth governor of Kansas today.

William A. Johnston, veteran chief justice beginning his forty-seventh year on the supreme court bench, administered the oath.

GEORGE WHITE BECOMES OHIO'S NEW GOVERNOR

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Jan. 12.—(AP)—George White, democrat, today became governor of Ohio when Myers Y. Cooper, republican, stepped aside and Mr. White assumed the duties of Ohio's chief executive.

Body of Man Found In Lot Is Identified

Body of a man found early Monday morning in a vacant lot on DeKalb avenue was identified Monday night as that of James A. Jenkins, 28, of Gainesville, who had been missing from the home of his uncle, G. W. Nichols, 221 Carroll street, here, since Saturday afternoon.

The body was found by Mrs. G. P. Harmon as she opened her place of business nearby. The uncle of the missing man, hearing of discovery of the body, early Monday night went to the funeral home of Harry G. Poole, where he identified it as that of his nephew.

There were no marks of violence on the body, and it was thought that Jenkins died from exposure. Coroner Paul Dunlap will conduct an inquest at the funeral home at 10 o'clock this morning.

According to relatives, Jenkins came to Atlanta Friday to seek employment. He is survived by his widow, three sons, James, Harold and Ernest Jenkins; his father, William Jenkins, and a sister, Mrs. C. R. Spencer, all of Gainesville. The body will be taken there for funeral services and interment.

National C. of C. Raps Shoals Plan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Government operation of Muscle Shoals was opposed today by the president and the chairman of the board of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

In a letter to the 1,700 member organizations of the national association, William Butterworth, the president, said "Whatever may have justified differences of opinion in the past as to what should be done with these properties evidence is now conclusive that federal operation of them, in whole or in part, can serve no useful purpose."

At the same time, Julius H. Barnes, the chairman of the board, said in a statement that "government operation of the Muscle Shoals plant cannot be justified from the viewpoint of economic enterprise or of national policy."

MOOR TO ANNOUNCE HIS DECISION TODAY

Decision of the Rev. N. R. High Moor, rector of St. Luke's Episcopal church, in regard to the preferred deanship of Trinity cathedral, at Pittsburgh, was still in doubt Monday night after a conference held by Dr. Moor with vestrymen of the church. The announcement of Dr. Moor's intentions probably will be made this morning, it was announced.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Jan. 12.—(AP)—The Florida American Legion closed its annual midwinter conference here today.

TARIFF BOARD FIGHT DEVELOPS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(AP)—After four of President Hoover's tariff commissioners had run the gauntlet of senate consideration today and emerged undamaged, a fifth—Edgar E. Brossard, Utah, republican—found cudgels lifted by both democrats and independent republicans.

The charge was raised that Brossard was "too close to the sugar interests."

A sixth member—Lincoln Dixon, democrat, of Indiana—remained to be considered after Brossard's nomination was acted upon. Dixon faced no opposition.

Henry P. Fletcher, of Pennsylvania, Republican Chairman John Lee Coulter, republican, North Dakota; Thomas W. Page, democrat, Virginia, and Alfred P. Dennis, democrat, Maryland, were those confirmed.

Wisconsin, both members of the finance committee which considered the nominations, led the attack on Brossard. Senator Reed defended him.

Harrison argued the Utahian was "too close to the sugar interests," and said Brossard was willing that the sugar tariff be raised still higher.

TRENTON, Tenn., Jan. 12.—(AP)—Two unmasked men held up the Bank of Fruitland near here this afternoon and escaped with $1,000 after locking Bernice Wilson, cashier, in the vault.

Not A Cheap Help But Safest For Deep Coughs

Cremulsion is not the cheapest help for coughs from colds. It is the most, whatever the condition. It combines in one prescription seven of the world's best helps.

It is made in particular for coughs from colds which hang on. There is where one dare not risk a help of lesser value. But it is wise in any cough to trust a less effective help.

Cremulsion is in it, blended, emulsified and easy. In an ideal way it presents the supreme help for soothing membranes and combating cold germs.

But there are also white pine tar, wild cherry bark, menthol, ipecac, etc. Each is best for some coughs. Here we combine all major helps to fight coughs to the limit from the start.

Because of this expensive combination, Cremulsion costs a little more than lesser helps. The price is $1.25, but your druggist guarantees it. He returns your money if you ask for it.

A three-day cough is a danger signal. There you must use Cremulsion to be sure. But it is wise to trust any cough to lesser help when the utmost is at your command? You never know where a cough may lead. Treat it with the best men know.

MISS BANKHEAD TO GET BIG WELCOME ON RETURN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(AP)—A beautiful American girl who went abroad on her nerve and brought London theatergoers to her feet is coming home to an affectionate welcome from her father—Representative Bankhead, of Alabama.

Tullulah Bankhead, blonde, slender, southern belle, who left a skeptical family five years ago, will be received with joy tomorrow in New York.

"I am overjoyed," he added. "She went over on her nerve, you know. She had few acquaintances in London, and she had worked in the theater here for about two years, but there was no job in prospect."

"Now she has a movie contract, and her first talkie will be made in New York."

Representative and Mrs. Bankhead planned to leave the capital tonight to be on the dock when the Aquatania ties up.

HEARING IS SET IN SLAYING CASE

Preliminary hearing will be held at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in recorder's court for S. A. Pittman, 1909 Forrest avenue, who is charged with the murder of E. B. Fowler, 370 Bedford place, N. E., Saturday night during an altercation said to have started over the latter's demand for return of $2 rent money.

Last rites for Fowler will be conducted at 1 o'clock this afternoon at the Holbrook Methodist Camp Ground in Cherokee county. Interment will be in the churchyard.

MODERN JAZZ SCORED BY TEACHER OF VOICE

J. Gordon Moore, organist and teacher of voice and piano, writing in the current issue of the Wesleyan Christian Advocate, says jazz music has corrupted the musical taste and one may find pure music in the church alone. "Can such a squawking, rasping, clanging jargon of instrumental noises be called music? God forbid," he said.

Cold Grips Italy.

BELLUNO, Italy, Jan. 12.—(UP)—North Italy was in the grip of a severe cold wave today. Below zero temperatures were registered in the province of Belluno and Venice. A violent icy wind raged at Trieste, and ropes were strung along the sidewalks to assist pedestrians to move about the city.

Jackets and Bulldogs Seek Better Court Ratings in Games Tonight

SHARKEY IS KROPPED FROM TITLE PICTURE

After an unprecedented flurry and scurry that has been under way since last summer, Southern conference coaching circles are slowly approaching a state of calm. A few more rearrangements and the stage will be set for the fall of 1931.

Like a school yard full of boys playing prisoners' base, the conference territory has been in a state of turmoil for months. The young men who teach boys how to play football have been making broken field runs, executing quarterback sneaks, throwing forward passes and even forfeiting games on their own account.

Most of the better known participants have shown enough speed and agility to capture a roosting place for next season.

A FAST GAME.

Wallace Wade started it months ago by tossing a bombshell in the form of a signed contract to coach Duke University into the public square at Tuscaloosa.

No need to go into the rapid-fire changes that took place among the Mississippi schools, the flash-in-the-pan uprising at Louisiana State, the signing of Frank Thomas to take Wade's post, and the general resignation parties staged in the South Atlantic district.

Georgia Tech and two assistant coaches agreed to sever relations and in no time Jack Cannon and Bobby Dodd were engaged as replacements.

Georgia is about to sign Rex Enright to replace Frank Thomas as assistant to Harry Mehre. Frank Thomas is uncertain about his helpers at Alabama, and so is Wallace Wade at Duke; they will know something definite within a few weeks.

BIGGER THINGS AHEAD.

The most recent coaching development and one of perhaps far reaching influence is the return to Vanderbilt of Josh Cody. He goes back to become ASSOCIATE coach with Dan McGugin.

Many see in this the beginning of the end of Your Uncle Daniel. Not that Vanderbilt has any designs on the great coach. Far from it. But as he has threatened to do in the past, Your Uncle Daniel has an idea in the back of his head that he will quietly slip out of active coaching some day. Just as his brother-in-law, Fielding Yost, has done at Michigan, Coach Dan hopes to do after a while at Vanderbilt.

But being a loyal man Coach Dan has no idea of stepping aside until a strong man is there to take his place. Josh Cody no doubt is the man.

CODY'S SECOND RETURN.

Cody is returning to Vanderbilt for the second time to become an assistant to McGugin after being away as a head coach. Once he went down to Mercer University and drilled the Baptist, but left to become a lieutenant of McGugin's.

Then he went to Clemson and did great work in pulling Clemson out of the football mire. But sensational as was the success of his teams things were not made pleasant for him by certain authority at the Carolina agricultural school. So last fall, after winning the state championship, he resigned.

And of all the offers he received to go here and there as head coach, he elected to go back to Vanderbilt and work with Coach McGugin. The title of associate coach is more than a title. It is a promise of bigger things in the future for Josh.

POSSIBILITIES.

One learns that Jess Neely, of Alabama; Lewie Hardage, of Vanderbilt, and Bill Fincher, of Georgia Tech, are under consideration for the Clemson job.

HARRY MEHRE SET AT GEORGIA.

In case anyone asks about it: Harry Mehre is all signed, sealed and delivered as head football coach at Georgia. He was sought by California for the Price vacancy at one time, but he is definitely established at Athens for the ensuing season.

Georgia football has prospered under the direction of the whimsical young man who hides a lot of thinking behind a screen of quiet humor.

Harry Mehre was simply too capable a coach to be allowed to get away.

ASK ME ANOTHER.

Harrison R. Johnston, former national amateur golf champion, visiting in Atlanta and being entertained by Bobby Jones, figured in an episode yesterday that will be repeated along Forsyth street for many a day.

Johnston was demonstrating a new golf game in Spalding's before a few sportsmen when a young man about town dropped in to watch and listen. The young man about town was introduced to "Mr. Johnston."

"Delighted, I'm sure, Mr. Johnston," said the young man about town. "Did you ever play golf?"

Harrison grinned and said:

"Just once—I was lucky enough to beat Bobby Jones."

Heavyweights Grapple On Mat Card Tonight

Paul Harper and Jack Washburn, heavyweight wrestlers, will meet tonight in the feature bout at the auditorium in a match which promises some sensational action.

"I am going in determined to beat this fellow Washburn," said Harper. "I was lucky to get this chance. Charles Fox had been here waiting for one when I was hurt and unable to continue. Washburn, former north-west mounted, has not wrestled here in about three years."

In the semi-windup two rough-housers will be given a chance to commit all the mayhem and battery they can in one hour.

George Zaharias, the "Human Truck," will wrestle Jim LaGene, the French-Canadian heavyweight who appeared here some months ago in two good matches.

Tickets will remain on sale at the Charles Fox "A number of fans saw 'ox' at the ringside for the Zaharias-Harper match," said Weber. "He was here asking for a match. I promised him a match on the next card. When

TECH, GEORGIA SEEK TO BOOST COURT RATINGS

Bulldogs Play Hosts to Wolfpack; Jackets Invade Florida.

By Herb Clark.

Georgia's Bulldogs and Georgia Tech's Yellow Jackets, the one a leader in present Southern conference basketball standings by virtue of three victories and the other trailing with one defeat, step out tonight on widely separated fronts to see what can be done about boosting the state's ranking.

The lads from Athens will stand by to repel invaders from North Carolina State. Trimming the Wolfpack, the Bulldogs will climb right smack into the driver's seat in the standings. At the moment the Bulldogs are tied with Alabama's defending champions. And those champions have the state ranking for six long, lazy days of rest.

Meanwhile Tech will be doing some invading of its own, pointing its hitherto ineffective guns on Florida's stronghold.

The breaches at Gainesville were well shattered by the Bulldogs of a Friday and Saturday night. Whether they have been sufficiently repaired to hold off the Jackets is a question. Whether or not the Jackets have the power to surge through to victory in any case is another. Both will be answered anon.

NEW BULLDOGS.

Georgia's dashing Bulldogs met little trouble in Gainesville. Handicapped by the temporary loss of "Catfish" Smith, Coach Stegeman shook himself a brand-new lineup out of the shaker—and found it very, very potent.

With Captain "Sandy" Sanford doing the jumping and little Tommy Moran taking over the high-point job, the Bulldogs had things on the right track from early until too late for the 'Gators to get caught by sub.

Tonight Stegeman is faced by the same problem—if problem it can be called—barring a quick right-about by Smith along scholastic lines. There are, however, no extant worries in Athens. The Bulldogs look good as they are. And "Catfish" may find himself pushed to regain his center position when he returns.

WOLFPACK SAD.

The Wolfpack has had two starts this season, both of them unsuccessful. They hope, somewhat sadly, for balm tonight.

The Jackets, beaten once, and the 'Gators, beaten twice, likewise bank on tonight's affair to rush them up the ladder. Both, obviously, are in a bad way.

Tech's lineup is expected to be full strength again, as Wages has recovered from the effects of the holiday trip and his knee is again ready for action.

Coach Mundorf and his men will leave the city at 9 o'clock this morning.

A squad of eight players, accompanied by Mundorf, Manager Victor Yeargan and Trainer Lee Jensen, will leave for the trip. Captain "Ginny" Wages will lead a crew of Perkins, MacArthur, Sullivan, Gooding, Phillips, Tate and Jones.

Dante Is Leading Lauderdale Open

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., Jan. 12.—(UPI)—The going rates were kind today and exactly 85 contestants shot 80 or under in the first 18 holes of the annual $1,500 Fort Lauderdale open golf tournament.

Observers said they believed today's solidly bunched scores marked a new record in the history of American golf competition. Ninety-five contestants shooting 80 or under was a fine testimonial for the quality of play in the Lauderdale tournament, officials said.

So Jim Dyer, Madison, N. J., who shot a par 70, held a lead that might be assumed by at least half a hundred other competitors. John Watson, South Bend, Ind., and Will Klein, Miami Beach, shot 71 for joint second place and four men, Jack Hutchison, Chicago; Ralph King, Chicago; Farley N. D. J. Jim Noyes, Fort Lauderdale; and Bill Thompson, Dayton, Ohio, had 72 in the third position. Noonan is one of the defending champions. The leaders will play 36 holes tomorrow.

The card:

Par, out	443-444-434-38
Dante, out	443-444-343-38-70
Watson, out	443-444-434-38-70

Ball Scores 80 To Keep Pace.

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., Jan. 12.—Frank Ball, professional at the East Lake Country Club, Atlanta, home course of Bobby Jones, scored the first round of the Fort Lauderdale $1,500 open golf tournament to tie for 80th place.

Ball was one of the 95 players who equalled or bettered 80 as the meet started.

JACKET BOXERS PREP FOR MEET

Returning Group of Titled Heads Squad of 80.

Boxing, little step-child, is taking a real interest in life at Georgia Tech this season.

A squad of some 80 men, working under the direction of Trainer Mike Chambers, is going through daily drills in the temporary ring under the stadium.

Tournament plans call for the holding of two meets this year. The first is slated for February 12 and 13, with four leaders in each class to be chosen to form the school squad. Late in March these latter boxers will again clash in tournament competition for school titles.

Vance Marree and Clint Ezell, co-holders of the heavyweight title; Earl Dunlap, light-heavy champion; Jimmy Rhett, middleweight leader; H. N. Merry, welterweight titlist; Blair Thompson, lightweight king; Jimmy Thompson, featherweight crown wearer; and "Mac" McNichols, bantam ruler, are all members of the present squad and will defend their titles in the tournaments.

Thompson Named Head of Travelers

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 12.—(AP)—Roy L. Thompson, president of the Democrat Printing and Lithographing Company of Little Rock, tonight formally became president of the reorganized Little Rock Baseball Association to succeed R. G. Allen, from whom the club was purchased last week.

The meeting tonight was the first gathering of new stockholders and concluded the three-month battle on the part of the chamber of commerce in behalf of organized baseball for this city.

Other officers elected tonight were Al C. Jones, president of the Colonial Baking Company, vice president, and H. Grady Manning, president of the Manning Hotel Company, secretary-treasurer.

The board of directors, in addition to the three officers, is made up of C. J. Griffith, vice president of the Arkansas Power and Light Company, and Fred L. Brown, president of the Arkansas Foundry Company.

There are 21 stockholders in the company, none of whom is a baseball man.

Tigers Nose Out Wolfpack, 30 to 28

AUBURN, Ala., Jan. 12.—(AP)—Kaley and Lumpkin caged a field goal each in a five-minute overtime period here tonight to give Auburn's basketball team a 30-to-28 victory over the North Carolina State quintet after the two teams had tied at the end of the regulation contest 26-all.

Judge Landis Due In Atlanta Today

Judge K. M. Landis, high commissioner of baseball, is due to arrive in the city around noon today on his way south, it was learned late last night.

Landis' destination and plans could not be learned last night but it is expected that he is on his way to Florida for a vacation before the baseball training season begins.

No Shift Is Planned For Tech's Grid Style

Coach Alex Quashes Report of Proposed Change—New Type of Line Assured.

By Ralph McGill.

NEW coaches at Georgia Tech for the 1931 football season will not mean a change in the system of play. There will be no revivification of the jump shift nor will any sort of shift be introduced. Such was the word from Will A. Alexander, Georgia Tech head coach, who discussed his new coaches Monday afternoon. With the signing of Jack Cannon, former Notre Dame star, the heavy thinkers were saying that Tech was in for a new system involving a shift.

"No," said Coach Alexander, "there will be no shift. We will still play barnyard football with no shifts."

Georgia Tech's spring football practice, which will be purely voluntary, will get started in February. There will be no definite action started until the examinations are completed. Tech happens to be one of those spots where football is not a sport, but a profession right out of the class room.

The boys aren't permitted to take vacations and have all the Jack Cannon will not be there when they will return. If at all. Any Tech athlete who takes an unauthorized vacation will be met with a fishy stare and a pink slip.

HENCE.

Hence the worried aspect of Mr. Will Alexander, who is suffering right now more than he suffered during any game. He will likely lose some of his boys.

Spring practice will be held as soon as all the post mortems are held following the reports of the physicians in charge.

Some changes in line play are pretty certain this spring and next fall. Jack Cannon will not be there when they will return. If at all. Any Tech athlete who takes an unauthorized vacation will be met with a fishy stare and a pink slip.

VERY SLOW.

The Tech line of 1930 was very slow, so slow that it was necessary to play a seven-minute overtime game when a six-man line should have been sufficient. The Jacket line, as a unit, was outplayed in most of the 1930 games.

Jack Cannon is sure to develop a more mobile line and one which will be able to get out and step back and forth as the game progresses.

The more one considers the Jacket coaching staff for next season the more one is convinced of the improvement of the team.

BOBBY TOO.

Bobby Dodd will not be content with a few lessons in the spring. He will be after his backs all season. They will get no rest. Dodd has an ambition to make a backfield this year. He will be giving them all he has.

Last fall saw Will A. Alexander talk himself right into a hush-hush each afternoon. He was hush-hush about an armed paper hanger.

He was giving verbal instructions to three departments of the team and at the same time trying to find a corner in his noggin to devote to strategy and ordinary plans for the campaign.

MORE GENERAL.

The 1931 Jacket line will be and its status as head coach a real one and not theoretical. Coach Alexander will have time to devote to the general aspect of the team.

It is customary to get out enthusiastic bluffs about brand new prospects. But these seem to be genuine.

It is probably the best coaching staff the Jackets have ever had. And Mr. Will Alexander, who is sitting on the bench waiting for the examination returns, is almost happy. He will be when the returns are in.

BLUE DEVILS WIN.

DURHAM, N. C., Jan. 12.—(AP)—Duke and its Blue Devils quintet continued in a winning streak here tonight and averaged a football loss to North Carolina by taking the Gamecock five for a 44-18 side.

PETRELS FIGHT OVER-EMPHASIS

Dropping of Basketball Is Move in Campaign, Says Jacobs.

By Ralph McGill.

Seeking to combat overemphasis of sport, Oglethorpe University is to drop intercollegiate basketball for this year and in place substitute a wide program of intramural sports as a four months' experiment.

In making the announcement Monday, Dr. Thorne Jacobs, university president, said the faculty had voted scholastic credit to those participating in intramural sports and that the varsity coaches would superintend the program.

"We hope that every student will take part in this program," Dr. Jacobs said. "It is an experiment for the remainder of this school year and will be continued if it proves successful."

The intramural council will agree on the amount of participation necessary to the earning of an athletic (intramural) letter and those completing this will be given one scholastic credit equivalent to that awarded for any academic work. No student, however, may earn more than one credit each year, nor more than four during the college career.

Intercollegiate basketball may be resumed next year, Dr. Jacobs said. All games scheduled for this year have been cancelled. The university will be represented in intercollegiate baseball and football.

Each class, fraternity, dormitory and organization may enter teams in the competition. Championship banners and other such awards will be made. The program includes several forms of competition for both the men and women students.

Basketball, boxing, wrestling, swimming, track, baseball, fencing and football are among those planned. Coaches Frank Anderson, Harry Robinson and Jack Overton will be in charge.

A basketball free tourney will get under way Monday.

Mickey Walker Wins by Knockout

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Mickey Walker went out of his class tonight and knocked out Matt Adgie, slugging Philadelphia heavyweight, in the first round of a 10-round bout at the arena.

A basketball free tourney will get under way Monday.

Wife of Shawkey Dies of Pneumonia

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 13.—(AP)—(Tuesday)—Mrs. Bob Shawkey, wife of the former manager of the New York Yankees, died in St. Francis hospital here at 12:30 a. m. today of pneumonia. She was taken ill last Friday upon her arrival from New York.

Shawkey, who was confined with influenza in St. Vincent's hospital in New York, left his bed to rush here to his wife. He arrived in Jacksonville last night by train, intending to take the 12:30 a. m. train for Miami. Bad weather prevented an immediate start and the plane did not hop off until 12:10 A. M. He is expected to land here shortly after 3 A. M.

Wright Is Signed; Vance, Herman Out

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Captain Glenn Wright, of the Brooklyn Dodgers, has signed a contract to again lead Brooklyn's entry in the National league pennant chase from his shortstop post, it was announced today.

The signing of Wright leaves only B. E. Herman, top ranking hitter of the team, and Dazzy Vance outside the fold.

GARDEN OFFERS STRIB AND MAX ILLINOIS BOUT

Winner Asked To Meet Carnera; Pa. Jacobs Frown on Bid.

By Edward J. Neil.

Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—The big heavyweight run-around came out into the open today in a set of puzzling proposals again designed to line up one world title bout between Max Schmeling and Young Bill Stribling somewhere in Illinois in June and another in September between the winner and Primo Carnera, the man mountain of Venice.

The Hearst Milk Fund officially—and Bill Carey, president of Madison Square Garden unofficially—joined in extending contracts for this program to "Pa" Stribling, father and manager of the Georgia prize, and Joe Jacobs, pilot of the German cluster.

While neither representative of the antagonists hailed the proffered documents with glee, it seems that some basis for agreement finally had arisen from the middle state of affairs, provided that other complications could be smoothed away.

Although Carey could not be present at the conference under penalty of suspension by the New York state athletic commission for dealing with a suspended fighter, the contracts were drawn up in the name of the Illinois Madison Square Garden Corporation under which the late Tex Rickard promoted the $2,700,000 Tunney-Dempsey battle of the long count in Chicago in 1927. This charter to promote matches in Chicago still is considered "alive" although it has not been used since the late 1920s. The organization since the biggest fight spectacle of modern times.

CHICAGO NOT NAMED.

The contracts were offered Schmeling and Stribling through the Illinois branch of the New York Garden and despite opposition of the Illinois state athletic commission to any heavy-weight endeavor not promoted by local talent. The contracts did not name Chicago as the site for the June match but no other city in that state is under consideration.

Neither the Stribling nor Schmeling management would sign the documents immediately and both were given time for consideration.

"Pa" Stribling was not in sympathy with a provision that bound his son, if victory over Schmeling, to fight Carnera in a city not named in September, 1931, and again in 1932 against the best available opponent for the milk fund alone. The contract bound Stribling to post $25,000 of his 12-12 per cent share in the Schmeling-Stribling receipts as a forfeit for the match with Carnera.

DUFFY IN.

Bill Duffy, American manager of Carnera, sat in on the conference today alone with the main fund promoters and the representatives of Stribling and Schmeling.

Carnera has been under the ban here as well as in his native Mexico since his fight with Bombo Chevalier in Oakland, Cal., last year. Schmeling was suspended indefinitely along with Jacobs when the New York commission vacated the German's championship last Tuesday for failure to agree immediately to a title bout with Jack Sharkey here.

The contracts as offered today definitely eliminated Sharkey, who fouled Schmeling in a title match here last June, from a match with either Carnera or Stribling this summer. It also was predicted that the wrath of the local fathers will fall heavily upon its head for the fight.

Whitcombe To Lead Brit Ryder Golfers

LONDON, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Charles A. Whitcombe, professional golf champion of Great Britain, today was named captain of the British professional team, which will meet one from the United States at Columbus, Ohio, June 25-27 for the Ryder cup.

Whitcombe is expected to meet with the four members of the Ryder cup committee within the next few days to select the team of eight players and two reserves which will go to the United States in an effort to regain the cup now held by the American clubbers.

F. J. Pignon will manage the team.

Bill Ingram Replaces Price at California

BERKELEY, Cal., Jan. 12.—(AP)—William "Navy" Bill Ingram, former coach at the United States Naval Academy, today was appointed head football coach at the University of California for a three-year term.

Ingram takes the place of C. M. "Nibs" Price, who resigned after last season. No salary terms were announced but it was understood the new mentor will receive between $12,000 and $15,000 yearly.

W. W. Monahan, graduate manager, who signed Ingram during an extensive "hunting trip" throughout the midwest and east, had instructions not to offer more than $15,000 a year for a coach.

Ingram notified the California authorities he would report here March 1 in time for spring training.

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., Jan. 12.—(AP)—Possibility that the Navy coaching staff may see more than "Navy Bill" Ingram, who has resigned to go to the University of California, was indicated tonight when Ingram said E. E. Miller, Navy line coach, was being "highly considered" as his assistant at the western institution.

Ingram, in notifying California authorities he would report here March 1, said he would recommend engaging one or two assistants. The coach is spending the Christmas holidays at his home here.

NORMA DISAPPOINTS AS AGEING DUBARRY

"DUBARRY, WOMAN OF PASSION," with Norma Talmadge, Conrad Nagel, etc. New and short subjects. Atlanta-Vaughan theatre scenes.

Back in the days of the silent screen Norma Talmadge was one of the finest of woman stars. She always drew big crowds and her pictures rarely, if ever, disappointed. Norma is at the Paramount this week—the first half only—in a romance built around the life of Madame DuBarry. It is, of course, a talkie. It is a pity that Norma hadn't rested on her old reputation. For, frankly, though the star's name will doubtless draw good-sized audiences, it is inevitable that many of them are going to be disappointed.

Norma is too old to play DuBarry. Also she is too tilted in her acting. Since her heyday the art of the screen has progressed and today there are many younger actresses who are far better equipped, by personality, training and appearance, to depict the character of a historically notorious "woman of passion."

The tempo of the picture is too slow. This is probably due to the outworn methods of the star, which inevitably slows up the action of the entire cast. William Farnum, as King Louis belongs to the type of actor who is a school of emotional acting and Conrad Nagel, as Cosse, the young soldier-lover, is hamstrung by his surroundings.

Anyway, this commentator found the picture quite a disappointment and, for the sake of the theater, can only hope that lots of folks will be doubting Thomases and go to verify that judgment for themselves.

There is a talkie, good as always, some interesting sound. News shots and scenes from Atlanta's glorious victory in the Rose Bowl.

Al Jolson in "Big Boy" is the next attraction, opening on Thursday.

HAROLD LLOYD FILM SHOWING AT CAMEO

"Feet First," the new Harold Lloyd feature, is showing at the Cameo theatre Tuesday, is a joyous romance filled with convulsing gags. Lloyd, as an ambitious but blundering shoe clerk, falls in love with Barbara Kent, social secretary to his wealthy employer's wife, and mistaking her for a fashionable heiress, he turns himself inside out to reach a social plane which will permit him to make love to her.

His ambitious social climb carries him to the top of an unfinished skyscraper.

The two cases involved fires during the World War. The American contention was that they were caused by German agents.

The decision of the commission denying the $20,000,000 claims against Germany was published November 14. It was handed down along with that in the so-called Kingsland case involving a similar sum, decided also in favor of Germany.

NAME OF SIBLEY PUT ON CALENDAR

Nomination Approved by Committee; Linton Hopkins Mentioned for Post.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 12.—

After receiving a unanimously favorable report from the judiciary committee, the senate today placed on the calendar the nomination of Judge Samuel H. Sibley, of Atlanta, as a member of the United States circuit court of appeals for the fifth circuit.

PEACE MOVE FOR G. O. P. IN SOUTH ANTICIPATED

Healing of Georgia Differences Seen as Harbinger for Other Dixie States.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—The announcement from Atlanta Sunday that republican organization leaders of Georgia have patched up their factional differences and gotten together in a harmony program was regarded here today as the forerunner of a move on the part of the Hoover administration to iron out the general southern situation in a similar way, preparatory to the 1932 national convention. Already steps have been taken to pacify conflicting organizations in Florida and before long it would not be surprising to see open moves made in the same direction in South Carolina, which, with Georgia, have constituted the three most troublesome southern states for the administration from a political patronage standpoint. There are reasons to believe here that the Georgia harmony program was insisted upon by the president's political mentors, who saw in the situation the possibility of two contested delegations going to the party's next national conclave. While Postmaster-General Walter F. Brown and Secretary to the President Walter H. Newton, charged with jurisdiction over southern affairs, have been partial to Collector of Internal Revenue J. T. Rose, of Atlanta, in his squabbles with the faction headed by J. W. Arnold, of Athens, it is believed they have been none the less insistent that peace be restored.

The south's position will be materially strengthened in the next convention by virtue of the fact that four states of the region, Virginia, North Carolina, Florida and Texas, cast their electoral votes for the Hoover-Curtis ticket two years ago. Its representation will be increased by more than 100 delegates.

FORMER RECTOR COMMITS SUICIDE

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(AP)—The Rev. Dr. William T. Reynolds, center of a recent scandal suit against Mrs. Margaret Du Pont Lee, of Washington, D. C., committed suicide yesterday by slashing his throat in a rooming house to which he had come without funds.

Papers in his room disclosed that he formerly was pastor of Grace Episcopal church in Washington and held pastorates in Chicago, Philadelphia and Providence, R. I. Other letters showed he had recently been discharged from the Episcopal hospital in Philadelphia.

In the Washington suit, Mrs. Maude Lee Ford sued Mrs. Lee for $50,000 on the ground that the latter had slandered her by accusing her of getting Dr. Reynolds intoxicated. Mrs. Ford was awarded $4,000 damages but the case was appealed. Dr. Reynolds also sued Mrs. Lee for defamation in 1928 but withdrew the action.

BEER BARON ADMITS INCOME TAX EVASION

CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Terrence Druggan, "Chicago's" original beer baron, pleaded "guilty with reservations" in federal court today to a charge of income tax evasion and faces a maximum penalty of 22 years in prison and a total fine of $50,000. Druggan reserved the right to change his plea in event higher courts reverse the convictions on the same charges of Ralph Capone, brother of "Scarface Al" and State Representative Lawrence C. O'Brien. Sentence was deferred until these appeals are decided.

The four counts to which Druggan pleaded guilty involved his income in 1922, 1923 and 1924—estimated by the government at $1,200,000. Druggan's defense was that he thought returns were not required on profits from manufacture and sale of beer.

Colds Cause Shifting Of Grand Opera Casts

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Colds of varying severity have been causing almost as much shifting of casts at the Metropolitan opera house recently as shifting of scenery.

Seven principals and at least 10 members of the chorus have been obliged to drop out of their places at different times and at least on two occasions the opera to be presented had to be replaced by another.

The illness of Lucresia Bori and Edward Johnson caused a switch from "Romeo and Juliet" to "Faust" tonight, and the illness of Rosa Ponselle recently caused "Ricciarda" to be presented in place of "Louise."

Others who have been ill are Lauri Volpi, Nina Morgana, and Gertrude Kappel, while Frederick Jagel has been away from the opera for two months with injuries suffered in an automobile accident.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

FARMER BROWN'S BOY GOES FISHING.

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Three-quarters of the fun of fishing is expectation born of wishing. —Farmer Brown's Boy.

Farmer Brown's boy was tramping across the snow-covered Green Meadows toward the Big River. He was going fishing. The Big River was covered with ice but this made only this difference—it was the reason he was going fishing. Instead of a rod he carried an axe. No he wasn't going to fish with the axe. Of course not. He was going to use that to cut holes in the ice. He also carried a basket of what are called tip-ups. To each is fastened a short line with a hook at one end. When a fish bites a little flag tips up so that the fisherman may see it even if he be at some distance.

So with those far-seeing eyes of his Blacky watched. He saw Farmer Brown's Boy go to a cove of the Big River and there chop holes in the ice. Blacky often had seen wood chopped with an axe, but this was the first time he had seen holes cut in the ice of the Big River and he was filled with curiosity.

As Farmer Brown's Boy left each hole Blacky saw that a short stick was left at each and he wondered what this could mean. At last Farmer Brown's Boy stopped cutting holes in the ice and went to the bank. There he built a fire and warmed his hands before the cheerful blaze.

Suddenly Farmer Brown's Boy started to run across the ice. He seemed excited. Blacky looked eagerly all about but could see nothing that looked in the least exciting. So eager was Blacky to see that he nearly lost his balance. Farmer Brown's Boy was running toward one of the holes that he had cut in the ice. Then Blacky saw that a tiny flag was waving from the stick beside that hole.

"Now what can that mean?" said Blacky to himself. He didn't have to wait long to find out. Farmer Brown's Boy reached that hole and bent over it. A second later something was flapping on the ice.

"A fish!" exclaimed Blacky, and right away became more interested than ever. He looked around at the other holes. Another little flag was fluttering way across the cove. Farmer

Brown's Boy left the fish he had caught lying on the ice and ran to the hole where the little flag fluttered a signal. In a jiffy another fish was flapping on the ice. Farmer Brown's Boy danced a little jig. Then from a pail he took a small minnow and rebaited that hook and dropped it back in that hole. He stood up and looked at all the other holes to see if any more signals were flying. None were. He turned and picking up the fish started back toward where he had left the first fish flapping on the ice.

Blacky looked that way. There was no fish to be seen! Could a Crow rub his eye? Blacky would have rubbed his. As it was, he blinked them rapidly and looked again. There was the hole and the stick beside it, but there was no fish either flapping or still.

"Caw! Caw!" exclaimed Blacky and flew to a tree a little nearer the Big River. He wanted to see better. Yes, sir, he wanted to see better. There was something mysterious, very mysterious indeed, about the disappearance of that fish. Could it have flapped and flopped back to the hole in the ice and so escaped? Blacky wished he knew. So did Farmer Brown's Boy.

AUTO VICTIM'S BURIAL TODAY; TOLL MOUNTS

J. I. Ketchum To Be Laid To Rest. Police Redouble Efforts.

Another victim of an auto accident in Atlanta will be buried today. Services for Jacob I. Ketchum, 65, jeweler, who was struck down in front of his store on Decatur street on Christmas Eve, will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon. H. G. Shirley, 26, of 617 Cameron street, was arrested for the accident on December 26 and released, but later, when the condition of the aged man grew worse, he was placed under $2,000 bond. He is slated to be given a preliminary hearing before a recorder today.

Meanwhile the accident total continued to mount Monday, while police redoubled their efforts to stem auto crashes. A collision between an automobile and a street car shortly before noon Monday at Whitehall and Forsyth streets resulted in injury to three persons.

The accident occurred when an automobile driven by W. R. Shackelford, of 700 East Cleveland avenue, East Point, collided with an inbound College Park trolley operated by W. J. Dean. Shackelford was slightly hurt as was J. E. Jester, of a local hotel, who was a passenger in the auto. Mrs. Shackelford, who was on the front seat with her husband, was seriously injured about the head and was admitted to Grady hospital for treatment.

Ernest McFarlane, 18, of a Kalb street address, was hurt Monday when a truck he was riding struck a parked car on South Boulevard near the Decatur street underpass. He sustained a deep cut over the right eye.

Shortly after noon Monday, Helen Whitehead, 6, was struck down on Whiteford avenue near Boulevard by an automobile, which, according to police reports, was driven by H. L. Fite, of 423 Sims street, East Point. The girl was slightly injured.

Losing control of her car, Mrs. Besie Ramsey, 402 Graham street, was slightly injured when the machine mounted the sidewalk on Stewart avenue, near Lexington street, and overturned. Willie Gibson, negro woman, of 1012 McDaniel street, also sustained minor injuries.

ATLANTAN WEDS AUGUSTA BELLE AT CHURCH CEREMONY

Alexander-Crichton Rites Are of Interest to Society

AUGUSTA, Ga., Jan. 12.—Marked by exquisite beauty and centering the interest of fashionable southern society was the marriage of Miss Sarah Alexander, daughter of Hugh Hull Alexander, of this city, to Dr. Robert Battey Crichton, of Atlanta, which took place at 11 o'clock this morning at the Reid Memorial church on The Hill. Rev. Dr. S. L. McCarty performed the ceremony in the presence of a large number of Augusta society and out-of-town guests.

Decorations bespeaking beauty and dignity prevailed throughout the church with stately calla lilies combined with palms and green foliage plants. Cathedral candelabra holding slender white tapers were arranged on the altar and at artistic intervals on the chancel rail.

Acting as ushers were Sam Williams, J. E. Ware, Jr., Dr. E. A. Bancker, all of Atlanta, and Hal Powell, of this city. Miss Harriet Alexander, the bride's cousin, and Mrs. Cleve Symmes, of Atlanta, sister of the groom, attended the bride and matron of honor. Miss Alexander's gown was an attractive creation of sapphire blue chiffon with which she wore a felt hat to match and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Mrs. Symmes was gowned in brown chiffon and her hat was fashioned of brown felt. Her bouquet was formed of butterfly roses.

Beautiful Bride.

The bride entered the church with her cousin, Willis Irvin, by whom she was given in marriage. They were joined at the altar by the groom and his best man, Cleve Symmes, of Atlanta. The bride's unusual beauty was accentuated by her gown of beige chiffon made with the smart draped cowl neckline and ankle length skirt. Her hat was of brown felt and she carried a bouquet of Talisman roses and valley lilies.

Immediately after the marriage service Mrs. Irvin Alexander, the bride's aunt, entertained members of the two families and a few close friends at a breakfast at her home on Hickman road, The Hill. At midday Dr. Crichton and his bride left for a motor trip to Florida. Upon their return they will go directly to Atlanta, where she will make their home. The bride wore for a traveling costume a striking ensemble of hunter's green tweed completed by a smart felt hat, shoes and top coat to match.

The bride and groom are representatives of aristocratic southern families and are popular members of Georgia's younger generation. The bride is a member of the Augusta Junior League and the Little Theater Guild and has been an active figure in the activities sponsored by these two organizations. She is extremely gifted in dramatic art and has appeared on the American stage playing leading roles in Shakespearean productions with the renowned Walter Hampden and Robert Mantell.

Dr. Crichton is the son of Mrs. Eugene Crichton, of Atlanta, and the late Dr. Crichton, who was a widely-known educator. The groom is numbered among Atlanta's leading young physicians and he and his charming bride will be interesting additions to that city's young married set.

Rebekah Lodge.

At the last meeting of Decatur Rebekah Lodge No. 31, I. O. O. F., of Georgia, the officers elected and appointed for the year 1931 were installed. Mrs. W. R. Beattie, past president of the lodge, presided. The following assisted Mrs. Beattie: Mrs. W. H. Hutchins, a deputy warden; Miss Laura McArthur, deputy treasurer; Mrs. M. C. Strickland, past president and present grand secretary; as secretary, Mrs. H. D. Harlan, past grand warden, as marshal; Mrs. E. O. Williams, conductor; Mrs. C. G. Holt, chaplain; Mrs. Jessie Pitts, as pianist, and Mrs. Culver Sims, inside guardian. The following officers were installed: Miss Ella K. Flemming, noble grand; Mrs. L. D. Broadwater, vice grand; J. Mack Johnson, treasurer; Mrs. H. H. Harlan, secretary; Mrs. Ida L. Fleming, warden; Mrs. Annie Ford, conductor; Mrs. Culver Sims, chaplain; Mrs. T. J. Rakestraw, R. S. N. G.; Miss Bettie Sims, L. S. N. G.; Culver Sims, outside guardian; Mrs. J. E. Bodenhammer, R. S. V. G.; and Miss Ina Mae Butler, L. S. V. G.

Clara Rebekah Lodge No. 22, at the installation in a body, as a tribute to the help given Clara during the past term by Mrs. Ida F. Flemming and Mrs. H. H. Harlan. Speeches were made by members of the lodge, including C. F. Baker, of Georgia 17; Mrs. C. C. Holt, Piedmont 16; W. R. Beattie, Piedmont 16; J. Ed Bodenhammer, past grand master and present grand treasurer, who with Mrs. Bodenhammer, a past president of the Georgia state assembly, are members of Decatur Rebekah lodge, and are the only husband and wife who have each attained the highest honor: possible in the order.

This lodge has recently changed its meeting night to Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Piano Recital.

Piano pupils of the Lucy Morgan Yarbrough School of Music will be presented in a recital Friday evening, January 16, at 8 o'clock at the Kirkwood school auditorium. They will be assisted by the Harmonica Club in a miniature minstrel. Those taking part are Eugenia Bridges, Margaret Wallace, Candler W. Butler, Evelyn Ballenger, Patsy Cowan, Majorie Rogers, Elizabeth Freeman, Elizabeth Sechler, Mabel and Miriam Talange, Bertice Jones, Elizabeth Travis, Helen Summerour, Fred Bridges, Thomas Smith, William McCurdy, Betty Lester, Frances Redford, Hazel Saut, Mary Belle Kissett, Barbara Grant, Billy Sechler, Grayson Parker, Carroll Freeman, Floyd Baines, Ureile Ellis, Betty and Elizabeth McCurdy, Elizabeth and Katherine Ledbetter and Kathleen Wroe.

Bolton Chapter O. E. S.

BOLTON, Ga., Jan. 12.—Bolton Chapter No. 143 O. E. S. recently held its annual installation of officers and Mrs. Geraldine Ray, installing officer, was assisted by Mrs. Lillian Ivie as marshal; Mrs. Alice Brown, chaplain; and Mrs. Eva Mauldin, organist.

Those installed were: Mrs. Nell Simmons, worthy matron; E. E. Rogers, worthy patron; Mrs. Lilly Mae Hudkins, associate matron; John V. Davis, associate patron; Mrs. Lillian Ivie, secretary; Mrs. Eva Mauldin, treasurer; Mrs. Artie Davis, conductor; Mrs. Maud Bishop, associate conductor; Mrs. Maud Greer, A. L. G.; Mrs. Bessie Jones, Ruth; Mrs. Annie E. Hall, Esther; Mrs. Lottie White, Martha; Mrs. Amy Shuford, Electa; Mrs. Dorris Conrad, marshal; Mrs. Willie Bell Young, chaplain; Mrs. Evelyn McMichael, organist; Mrs. Floy Rogers, warden and J. C. Chambers, sentinel.

Judge Virlyn B. Moore presented the jewels to the retiring matron, Mrs. Alice Brown, and retiring patron, J. F. Lord. Under the leadership of Mrs. Brown the chapter has had a very prosperous year. The officers of 1930 presented her with a silver coffee service. She was president of the 1930 Worthy Matrons' Club, which presented her with a sterling silver basket. The presentation being made by Mrs. Cora Blackwood. A friendship quilt was given Mrs. Brown by the chapter members. Little Avis Rogers, mascot of the chapter, and her "buddy," Jerry Simmons, presented her with a set of flowers, and Mrs. Maud Bishop's gift to Mrs. Brown was a silver pitcher.

Roses Beautify McBurney Cottage

The planting committee of Rose Garden Club, of which Mrs. Frank M. Berry is chairman, planted 150 iris, 18 spirea thumbergii, 18 January jasmine, 7 forsythia, 2 ligustrum shrubs, and 8 or 10 flowering shrubs at the McBurney cottage, at Hillside cottages. This report was read at the meeting held Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Harry Johnson, on Club drive, with Mrs. Charles Evans as assistant hostess. The flowering shrubs were donated by members and were products of their individual gardens, and suggestions and plans for future activities along this line were made. The outstanding one being to plant a large deciduous tree directly in front of the cottage to serve as a permanent Christmas tree for the children.

Mrs. Willard McBurney, president, read a letter from the Garden Club of Georgia asking co-operation of the Rose Garden Club in donating to a fund being sponsored by the Garden Club of Georgia to bring as visitor to each garden club Mrs. W. S. Lawton, national chairman, and Mrs. Cleve Symmes, of Atlanta, sister of the groom, attended the bride and matron of honor. Miss Alexander's gown was an attractive creation of sapphire blue chiffon with which she wore a felt hat to match and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Mrs. Symmes was gowned in brown chiffon and her hat was fashioned of brown felt. Her bouquet was formed of butterfly roses.

Junior League Jottings

By MRS. REGINALD FLEET, Editor

The arts and interests committee of the Atlanta Junior League will meet this afternoon, Tuesday, January 13, with Mrs. Trimble Johnson, chairman of this important committee of the Junior League. Plans for the lectures in the arts and interests series and for the Junior League exhibit will be formulated at this meeting. Mrs. Johnson's committee is as follows: Miss Margaret Nelson, Mrs. Leon Mandeville, Mrs. Preston Stevens, Mrs. Frank Boston, Mrs. Frank Alcorn, Mrs. Preston Arkwright, Jr., and Mrs. Ralph Paris. A lecture by Charles N. Ogden, a reading by Dr. Memminger and a tea for George Elmer Browne at the High Museum have been sponsored by this committee during the past few months.

The third meeting arranged by this group will be held at the High Museum on Wednesday, January 21, at 3 o'clock. Dr. Frank Reade, assistant professor of English at Georgia Tech, will address the members of the Junior League and their friends upon this occasion. His subject will be "Edgar Allan Poe." Dr. Reade is a graduate of the University of Virginia and has been a student of Poe for many years. He is a personal friend of Dr. Wilson, the head of the Edgar Allan Poe School of English at the University of Virginia, who is the outstanding authority on Poe, a wealth of interesting material to present to his audience. Poe has always been a fascinating subject but a new Poe is emerging from the welter of lies which for so long a time enveloped his history. Dr. Reade's talk on Poe will be one of the high points of the arts and interests series. In the early spring Mrs. Samuel Porter will give a talk on "Arts and Decoration." Mrs. Porter is one of the best known decorators in the city. Her talk will be a most interesting one.

The Junior League exhibit of creative achievements will be held at the High Museum in April. This exhibit will include paintings, etchings, watercolors, pen and ink sketches, plans for gardens executed in miniature and needlework. This last class includes needlepoint, linen work, children's dresses and other creative work of this character. This will be the second Junior League exhibit to be held at the mu-

Honoring Mrs. Hill.

Mrs. Enos S. Hartman entertained for her guest, Mrs. W. N. Hill, of New Orleans, La., last Saturday at Davison-Paxon's tea room, inviting 16 friends to play bridge.

Bessie Tift Alumnae.

Bessie Tift alumnae meets Saturday, January 17, in Davison-Paxon's tea room at 12:30 o'clock and alumnae are invited to attend. Interesting plans will be discussed for the spring work. For reservations call Cherokee 2342-J or Raymond 0823-J.

An added feature this year will be the "hobby exhibit," the "hobbies" being limited to those which have artistic, cultural and historic interest.

The Junior League exhibit in April should be a very creditable one, as there is a good variety of talent in the league, and should be one of interest to the general public as well as to the members of the Junior League.

In May, Miss Helen Riley, the director of the Atlanta Music Center and the representative of the Juilliard Foundation in Atlanta, will present a recital of folk songs in costume. The loveliness of Miss Riley's voice is too well known to elaborate upon and her program will be a delightful close of an interesting series.

Atlanta Writers' Club To Hold Memorial Exercises for Mr. Hartsock

Atlanta Writers' Club meets Thursday, January 15, at 8 o'clock, at the Studio Arts building at Peachtree and Fourteenth street. A 15-minute memorial program will feature the conclusion of the meeting, in honor of the late Ernest Hartsock, beloved president of the club. Dr. Thorne Jacobs, president of Oglethorpe, will give an introductory talk explaining the anthology and touching on the quality of Georgia poetry in general.

The program includes readings from the "Oglethorpe Book of Georgia Verse," songs rendered by Miss Betty Burdett, including "Mighty Lak a Rose," "Just a Wearyin' for You," "The Georgia Peach," and "The Georgia Peach." The anthology, philosophical themes, read by Miss Carolyn Cobb; address by John Graham, "Some of the Earlier Georgia Poets," group of poems from the anthology; nature themes, read by Mrs. C. Gainer Turner; baritone solos, by Llewellyn Scott; "Ballad of Trees and the Master," words by Sidney Lanier; poems from the anthology; classics and distant lands; patriotic and local themes, read by Parker Ford. ## TUESDAY FASHION DAY AT RICH'S

Silk Prints

Adventure Abroad for Inspiration

—Prints—those adorable vagabonds of Fashion—have been finding things a bit humdrum at home of late, and (even as you or I, on occasion) have ventured to far, romantic lands and times in search of that extra sparkle, that truer color, that more surprising design which make life worth while! All the way from the posy-bright recesses of an English cottage garden to the tropical picturesqueness of barbaric Africa... and from the quaint atmosphere of a Dickens novel to the most sophisticated modern life!

Mallinson's French Colony Prints

—The throb of a tom-tom in the velvet darkness of a Moroccan night; blazing yellow suns above yellow sands; soft-footed, secretive natives in their tawny and scarlet costumes; the unutterable blue of the Mediterranean on one hand, and on the other the green palm-fringed oasis. Mallinson inspirations for prints of startling, exotic beauty! Price $2.95.

Mallinson's Pussy Willow Prints

—Dolly Varden Print: as gayly coquettish and charmingly-sentimental as the Victorians themselves! Buttercup print: an English meadow in April dawn, with the dew-bright blossoms just waking up! Daisy print: sweet, sun-loving little flowers scattered over a dotted ground. Mallinson creations all. Priced $3.50.

Cheney's Spring Prints

—A vine of living green that twines and rambles in the most abandoned springtime manner, and enlivens its way with tiny red flowers! Decorous cool blue roses, transplanted from a prim Sussex garden plot! Two of the inimitable Cheney printed silks featured at Rich's! Price $2.95.

Mrs. M. L. Thrower Elected Third Vice President of Club

Mrs. M. L. Thrower was elected third vice president of Atlanta Woman's Club at the meeting held yesterday at the club house on Peachtree street. The creation of this new office was made possible by a revision of the by-laws, at a meeting of the executive board several weeks ago, was ratified by the vote of the membership, and the announcement was made by Mrs. D. R. Wilder, chairman of the revision of by-laws. Mrs. Thrower long has been active in the club, and is especially suited to this high office.

Y. W. C. A. Dinner Given January 30

The annual dinner of the Young Women's Christian Association will be held January 30, and the following chairmen have been appointed to arrange for the banquet, decorations, program and invitations: Mesdames Guy Woodford, Charles F. Hoke, Turner Jones, Miss Caroline Nicolson and others, assisted by members of the staff, and Mrs. John Engan, president. Miss Gretta Smith, national town secretary, has been chosen as the speaker and her message will be an interpretation of what the Y. W. C. A. means to Atlanta. Each secretary is arranging a short feature depicting the departmental programs, and members of the association are invited. In preparation for the many visitors who will come to the administration building, 37 Auburn avenue, for the annual dinner, the house committee is busy engaged in redecorating the living rooms, lobby and club rooms. A request is made for odd tables, chairs, lamps or miscellaneous pieces to be given to the Y. W. C. A. There is urgent need for a large range for the kitchen to facilitate the preparation of club suppers, committee luncheons and other meals.

Music lovers will be attracted to the "Y" January 22, when at 7 o'clock Miss Helen Coyne Riley will lecture on "Opera and Oratorios." Business Girls' department extends invitations to business and professional women to attend a series of three talks given by D. M. Therrell, of the Southern Bell Telephone Company, January 13-20-27. Mrs. E. L. Elrod, of "Television," and both men and women are invited.

Business Girls' League will stage a membership initiation Thursday evening for those who joined the club since the fall of 1930, and will be followed by a party fashioned along the old English custom of twelfth night revels.

Miss Lucile Litzker, national girl reserve secretary of the Y. W. C. A., met with the monthly directors and committee of the Girl Reserve clubs and proved a source of inspiration at the beginning of the new year's work.

Miss Litzker works with Miss Louise Wrookoff, Girl Reserve secretary, and Mrs. Smythe Gambrell, chairman of the committee.

Inter-club council meets Friday at 5:30 o'clock for supper at 37 Auburn avenue, and discussion will follow as to ways for raising money to send delegates to the Girl Reserve conference which will be held at Camp Shipley, N. C., in June. Mrs. Smythe Gambrell, Miss Louise Wrookoff and the cabinet members of clubs will attend.

Send 12 cents in silver or stamps for our "Plant and Fruit Trees." Address orders to Beauty Fashion Department, care The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

Plant Fruit Trees

There is pleasure and profit in a home orchard. Pleasure, because of color and beauty of blossom, foliage and fruit. Profit and economy from the personal use of the luscious home-grown fruit yielded. Hastings' fruit trees are healthy, well-rooted and come into bearing early. PLANT NOW to have an abundance of fresh fruits.

Beauty Fashions

Honor guests occupying boxes were Judge Sibley, of the court of appeals; the consuls, Mrs. Maude Baker, Americanization chairman fifth district; Mrs. John Evans, first American citizenship chairman of the Atlanta Woman's Club; Mrs. Herman de la Perriere, Hochtong, Ga., chairman of state legislation; Mesdames Jacques Foutelle, John Walker, Alfred Myers, Audrey Deneck, J. A. McCarty, Miss Frances Woodbury rendered a group of songs accompanied at the piano by Miss Helen Schaid.

A DAINTY MORNING FROCK.

7050. Printed cotton crepe in blue and white, with white organdy for trimming was selected for this model. Printed lawn or linen, also dainty and percale are suggested. The waist portion forms a panel over the center of the front, with plaits adding pleats in fullness, to the flare of the sides. The back flares below the waist portion. Shaped plastron portions trim the front of the waist in vestee effect. The sleeve may be finished in wrist length, or, in short length with an upturned cuff. The fullness of the dress is held at the waist line by a belt. The width of the dress at the lower edge with plaits extended is 2-1/2 yards.

Designed in 6 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. A 38-inch size requires 4-3/8 yards of 35-inch material if made with wrist length sleeves. With sleeves in short length 4 yards will be required. For plastron, belt and cuffs of contrasting material 7-8 yard 35 inches wide is required, cut crosswise. To finish with bias binding as shown in the large view will require 4-1/2 yards 1-1/2 inches wide.

Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps.

Members of the Atlanta section, National Council of Jewish Women, in co-operation with the Fifth District Federated Women's Clubs, will be hostesses Monday, January 19, at 8 o'clock at the Temple House, 1389 Peachtree, honoring Dr. Raymond V. Harris, of Savannah, who will be guest speaker. Dr. Harris is past president of the Savannah chapter of the Georgia Association of Workers for the Blind, chairman of organization for the state association, and member of the legislative committee, and last year gave practically his entire time speaking over the state in behalf of this organization. He is a well-known physician of Savannah, and having lost his sight about three years ago is well qualified to speak on rehabilitation of the blind.

The Other Bullet

By Nancy Barr Mavity

INSTALLMENT XLIV.

"Come along out to the conference room," he suggested.

"Sure, and is it a drink you're offering me?" Ryder's thick brogue was mostly pose, but his wink was spontaneous.

"As a matter of fact," Peter said, "it wasn't Sears that sent for you. I did it myself. I wanted to ask you something."

"Oh, well," Ryder accepted the loss of the expected job without disappointment. "It's an expensive way of conducting a conversation, but it's all right with me. It gave me an excuse to light out of Jimville, and that's what I was aiming to do before another week was out."

"What I wanted to ask you is this: Where did you get the emerald ring? The only possible defense against Ryder's loquacity was to drive straight to the point.

"I never heard of any emerald ring! The emerald is the closest I ever came to the wearin' of the green. I haven't even been drunk enough to see green snakes—not yet, though the time may come if they don't improve the quality of the stuff you get. Speaking of which, what about that drink you were talking about?"

"I wasn't talking about any drink," Peter felt as if he were trying to swim through an entanglement of seaweed. "I'm talking about a ring. An emerald ring. De Lamoth says you gave it to him."

"I never gave de Lamoth anything but I. O. U.'s—and he's still got them. I suppose I'll have to pay up, now that he's seen me in town."

"For God's sake," Peter said desperately, "will you stick to the subject?"

"You did give it to me," Lammie, who had stood silent, his back against the door, broke in. "Don't you remember? We were on a four-day bender together. You got fired from the Times for it."

"Did I now? I got fired from so many papers, I can't keep track of them. I must have been just about ready to quit the Times. I can generally talk them out of firing me, unless I want to be fired, which is usually."

"It was the ring with initials on it—de M. You gave it to me because they matched mine. You remember?"

Peter glanced sharply at de Lamoth. Was it possible that he was coaching Ryder in the story he wanted him to tell? His remarks had certainly been leading enough. But then, the only way to induce Ryder to stick to any topic instead of wandering off issues was by firm leading.

Ryder clapped his hand to his forehead.

"Sure, and I do recall something of the sort, now that you mention it. But I never thought of it as being green at all. If I'd noticed the emerald I'd probably have kept it for the sake of Sinn Fein."

"Quit your clowning, Ben," Peter said severely, "and for the Lord's sake stop acting like a stage Irishman. We all know you were born in Boston."

"Murder will out!" Ryder exclaimed triumphantly. "It's the scandal of my past life you've discovered on me."

"You did give the ring to Lammie, then?" Peter persisted.

"That's what I've been telling you. It slipped my mind until you brought it back to me. It was a great night we were having, and the details of it are hazy in my head."

"Where did you get it in the first place?" Peter forestalled further reminiscences of the "great night."

"Where did I get it now? I had it knocking around in my pocket, not being one of the wearing of jewelry, it doesn't suit my style of beauty to go around all decked out like a Christmas tree."

Peter sighed. Ryder was a likable fellow, but he had admitted possession of the ring, after first denying it. Was his irrelevant chatter a device to gain time? Peter fought his own suspicion, but the circumstances themselves were suspicious.

"I have it now!" Ryder exclaimed. "I won it in a poker game. 'You—what?' The answer was so completely unexpected that Peter's brain reeled. He began to have the curious illusion that the thing wasn't happening at all. He was taking part in some monstrous fantasy, where nonsense ruled in place of logic."

"That's the very way I got it," Ryder had at last sensed the seriousness of the situation. He dropped his brogue and with it his conversational side-flights. "It belonged to a lawyer—Lee Fitzgerald. You probably know him."

Peter nodded, speechless.

"It was a friendly game, in the back room at Nick's place, and Fitzgerald was losing everything but his shirt. He ran out of cash, and put up his watch chain and tie pin, and finally this ring. He kidded him about it, began to talk about strip poker and all that."

"When was all this?"

"Not so very long ago. Let me see. I hadn't had it but a day or two. That's how it happened to be still in my pocket when Lammie and I had our bust."

"It simply wasn't possible. Nothing was possible. Whatever way he turned Peter faced the incredible. If Ryder and Lammie were telling the truth, the ring had been tossed from hand to hand as if it were of no value. Yet for its sake a man had committed murder, and it was the one tangible bit of evidence linking him with the crime. Perhaps the thief had been frightened into getting rid of it. But why, in that case, had he taken it in the first place? Even so, this mad chase must eventually lead to the person who had taken it from the Chinese box."

It was a bizarre enough—but the alternatives were equally grotesque. Either a reputable lawyer and two reporters were united in a conspiracy of murder—and their connection with Mortimer, leading to the crime, still remained unfathomable. Or else one of them knew more than he appeared to know. Was it Ryder? Had he simply passed on the ring to Lammie, making him the scapegoat? Or had Lammie invented the story and persuaded Ryder to back him up?

What about the initials? The triple initial was fairly uncommon. Was there a closer relation than appeared on the surface between Mortimer and de Lamoth? Had the shortening of the name from De La Mothe—though a common enough simplification in America—been made with a definite motive of concealment? Every avenue of speculation was a blind street, blocked either by Peter's ignorance or by its own inherent absurdity. But Peter had set out to lesson that ignorance—and experience had taught him that absurdities often turn out to be facts.

"I wish you'd stick around, Ryder, till I get this straightened out," he said after a long pause which neither of the other men had offered to break. "I guess I can get Sears to give you a job. It's cheaper than hunting all over the state for you."

"Sure, I'd just as soon work on the Herald as anywhere—for a while," Ryder assented.

He seemed completely indifferent to the reason for Peter's inquiries. Was that because he already knew—or was he simply incurious about a story on which he was not himself working? Certainly there was no anxiety in his manner. But then, he had had plenty of time for preparation and concealment. Only, if he were really not caught unawares, wouldn't he be for that reason have pretended surprise?

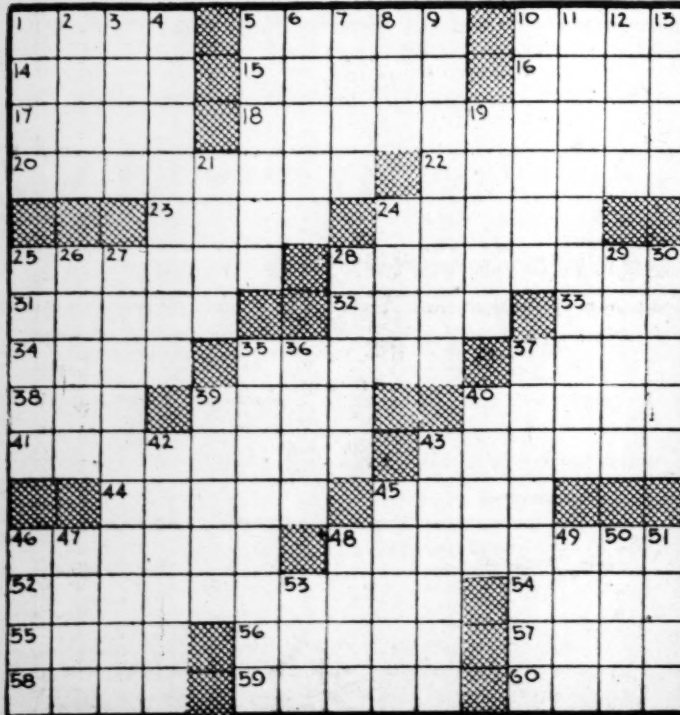

But happy-go-lucky Ryder! It was impossible to imagine him engaged in a complicated plot. And he wouldn't worry about other people's mysteries—he never worried about anything. Yet Lammie and Mortimer were telling the truth. Ryder had got rid of the ring and promptly disappeared. When he got wind of the search that was being made for him, he had come back to face the music. That was only common sense. He must know that he would be found sooner or later, once the hunt was on, and it would be silly to attempt to be hiding.

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN.
CINCINNATI, Jan. 22.—Higher prices for grains went hand-in-hand today with a shifting of corn traders to the big pit heretofore used for wheat. The volume of trading in volume and dominated or late by government sponsored agencies, which were fed a smaller pit previously devoted to corn. The decrease of the corn visible supply was a factor in hoisting of prices, and so was the fact that the bulk of the wheat on ocean passage were almost the smallest ever known. Corn closed firm 7-8 to 1-8 cent higher, and 3-8 to 4-8 cent. Oats 3-8 to 5-8 advance and provisions unchanged to 12 cents off. The corn visible supply was only 4,000 bushels.

The news came as a surprise and was followed by a brisk late advance that contrasted with transient sharp declines around midday. A decrease in visible stocks of corn at this time of year emphasized that the movement from rural sources to distribution centers was abnormally scant. For the corresponding week last year, there was an increase of 2,251,000 bushels. Shrinkage of country offerings of corn to arrive in Chicago was another momentum to price upturn. Dealers sympathized with corn.

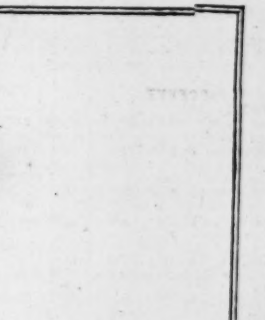

Despite selling by a house that frequently has been a corn and allies market, wheat responded to corn gains. Wheat upturns were also in the face of a 1,774,000 bushels increase of the wheat crop in the United States, well below trade expectations. Stocks of wheat in flour for Europe are now 25,168,000 bushels, against 27,272,000 last week and 28,222,000 a year ago.

Provisions declined owing to a large unit of hogs.
